

UNANIMOUS FOR HIGHER TAX LEVY IN FORT WAYNE

Not A Vote Opposed It in the Meeting Held by Commercial Club—All Willing to Pay it.

Without a dissenting vote the Fort Wayne Commercial club at its meeting Thursday evening adopted the resolution submitted by the committee on city interests, declaring in favor of such increase in the city tax levy as will permit the people to have many of the improvements for which they are now clamoring. These include a more efficient system of collecting and disposing of garbage; more parks; extension of track elevation; an increase in the police force; a larger city hall with fireproof vaults in which to keep municipal records; a street repair plant; a larger street cleaning force; and improved street cleaning devices, etc.

The committee was directed to take up the matter with the city controller and the council, apprising them of the club's action.

Meeting Was Unique.

S. M. Foster, of the committee, speaking for the resolution declared his belief that the meeting was unique in the history of Fort Wayne. Never before, so far as he was aware, have the people held meetings to ask that their taxes be raised. Fort Wayne has come to the point, said Mr. Foster, where it ought to quit playing politics in the matter of tax levy. He declared that it is not low taxes that makes a city grow, but the results it obtains from the money it spends, and he expressed the belief that the people of the city were nearly all of one mind in asking that the levy be advanced so that needed improvements might be secured.

John L. Sewler, of Cass street, who said he spoke as a small tax-payer, expressed the confident belief that the people would not object to an advance in the levy if they can get some of the improvements they are asking for.

"We want an up-to-date city," said

YOUNG BEATTIE'S FATE WILL BE WITH THE JURY TODAY

Prisoner Searches Faces of The Twelve for a Sign, But They are Inscrutable—Near End of Argument.

Chesterfield Court House, Va., Sept. 8.—Henry Clay Beattie, Jr., on trial for the murder of his wife, today searched with unbroken gaze for hours the expressionless faces of the twelve country folk who hold his fate for some manifestation, however remote, of yielding to the deep voiced appeal of his attorney, Harry M. Smith, Jr.

It was a stare of manifest anxiety. But the jurors held their secret. Some of the eyes in the jury box followed carefully the full featured speech of the tall man at the bar, earnestly beseeching them to consider the past good character of the accused and inconceivability of the murder being committed "by a man of Beattie's goodness and intelligence." Others of the jury looked slantingly through the window opposite them, wearied of meeting the eyes of a gaping crowd, which for a fortnight had concentrated its observation on them.

Impassioned Paul Beattie.

Mr. Smith reviewed the evidence in detail and continued the impeachment of Paul Beattie's testimony as the key-stone of his argument. He spoke for four hours, concluding just before the luncheon recess.

L. O. Wendenburg, of the prosecution, began the closing speech of the trial this afternoon.

"Have you any thought?" said Mr. Smith in conclusion, "that a verdict of guilty means also the death of the father and the disgrace of the little sister? May God give you wisdom to do your duty."

The ending of the argument for the defense at recess hour indicated that the case would go to the jury about 5 or 6 o'clock tonight. Prosecutor Wendenburg said at noon that he would occupy the rest of the afternoon with his speech.

BANDIT MEETS WITH A NERVOUS BANK CASHIER.

Laurel, Md., Sept. 8.—A masked man entered the Citizens' National bank here shortly after the opening hour this morning and at the point of a pistol demanded that the receiving teller hand over the money that was lying at the desk beside him. The would-be robber was forced to flight before he could secure the money by Cashier Waters, who fired two shots at the fleeing man. A posse is in pursuit.

U. S. ARMY ENGINEERS STRIVING HARD TO FLOAT THE OLD MAINE

STIMSON BATTERY ON QUARTER DECK OF THE RESURRECTED MAINE.

That no effort will be spared to float the after portion of the wrecked battle ship Maine is evidenced by the attempts now being made by the United States army engineers to balance the weight of the after turret and bring the section of the hull which is still intact to an even keel.

The after turret, which, with its two ten inch rifles, weighs about two hundred and twenty tons, is "sponsored," or built on a form of shell on the port side of the vessel. The forward turret, which was on the starboard side, served to balance the vessel, but as this was blown away by the explosion, the after part sank in the mud of Havana Harbor with a sharp list to port.

GARY'S MAYOR AND A CITY COUNCILMEN ARE ARRESTED

Tom Knotts Charged With Getting Piece of Money in Connection With a Franchise Job.

Gary, Ind., Sept. 8.—Thomas E. Knotts, mayor of Gary, and Walter Gibson, councilman, were arrested today by deputy sheriffs on charges respectively of accepting and soliciting bribes in a holding franchise.

Mayor Knotts was arrested in the city hall just after T. B. Dean, who signed the affidavit, came from the executive's office with the hearing franchise in his pocket. Dean alleges he paid the mayor $5,000.

Before entering the mayor's office, Dean had himself searched by four persons as a proof that he had the $5,000 on his person, when he entered Mayor Knotts' office. When he left the room he had himself searched again. He told the deputies to serve the warrant and they would find the money in an envelope in a pigeon hole in Mayor Knotts' desk. The warrant was served and Mayor Knotts was released on $5,000 bonds furnished by his brother, A. F. Knotts, former mayor of Hammond, Ind.

Following the mayor's arrest the deputy sheriffs obtained an automobile and said they were going to arrest other city officials. As they started, they met Walter Gibson, a councilman, who was served with a warrant on the charge of soliciting a $500 bribe in connection with the hearing franchise. T. B. Dean, who received the hearing franchise and filed the affidavit, came here from Richmond, Ky., six months ago to obtain the hearing franchise. In speaking of the arrests he said that after consulting a Chicago lawyer a plan was made to obtain evidence when he found that the franchise would cost him money. He stated that dictagraphs had been connected up in his room at the hotel and also that one had been installed even in the mayor's private office. Other arrests of city officials are expected to be made.

WARNED TO BE READY FOR WAR

Notices Are Sent Out to 35,000 Employees of the Illinois Central.

MAY ESCAPE STRIKE

Chicago, Sept. 8.—Warnings have been sent to the 35,000 members of the federation of shop employees of the Illinois Central railroad and allied lines to be prepared for the calling of a strike, but the men are no nearer a walkout than they have been at any time during the last week, union officials said here today.

The notices sent to the employees, explained W. F. Kramer, chairman of the committee which has the question under consideration, merely warned them to be prepared in the event of a strike.

The warnings were mailed to various locals last Wednesday. In case of a strike, it was explained, a "flash" notice would be sent out from the union heads.

MEET TO DETERMINE ACTION.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 8.—Members of the general committee of the shop craft union of the Harriman line together with four international presidents of labor organizations, met here today to begin the task of determining what action shall be taken by the federation of shopmen in the face of refusal by officials of the Harriman lines to recognize the federation. The general committee members present represent nearly every shop of the Harriman system west of the Mississippi river and they are given full authority to act for the 25,000 Harriman line employees.

James W. Kilne, international president of the Blacksmiths' union said that the four international presidents who came here and unsuccessfully urged Vice President Kruttschnitt, of the Harriman lines to recognize the federation, would use every effort to avert an open break between the company and the men, but that they realized there was little chance to prevent a strike. The presidents at the meeting today told the general committee of the negotiations with Kruttschnitt and explained all of the details of the present situation. Since the Kruttschnitt conference the men have taken a vote and the general committee members came here with definite instructions from the men whom they represent. This vote is the second the men have taken on the subject, the one prior to the Kruttschnitt having been practically a unanimous decision to strike unless the federation should gain recognition from the railroad officials. President Kline said the present conference probably would last until tomorrow and it might be extended into next week. He said that he did not expect any definite action today.

REPORT SOON ON WRECK OF FLYER

Rail Commission Taking Testimony of the Trainmen.

WILL FIX THE BLAME

Indianapolis, Sept. 8.—The railroad commission of Indiana yesterday examined witnesses in the investigation which the commission is carrying on jointly with the inter-state commerce commission into the Pennsylvania flyer wreck at Fort Wayne, Aug. 13. No details of the examination were made public, but it is believed a report fixing the blame of the loss of life and property will be issued by the Indiana commission within the next few days.

H. W. Belknap, chief examiner of the inter-state commerce commission, and James C. Chota, an assistant, aided the Indiana commission in the investigation. Officials of the Pennsylvania railroad, Fireman Boyard, of the wrecked second engine of the train, and other members of the train crew appeared at the investigation. Engineer Malone was not present.

HERO MEDAL FOR RAYMOND KEISER

materialize. A few days ago a movement was started in the city by the friends of the brave young man, and yesterday a letter was forwarded to the Carnegie Hero Fund commission asking the institute to investigate the local case. All newspapers referring to the heroic act have been collected and the men in charge of the movement will forward the clippings to the commission.

On Tuesday afternoon, August 22, young Keiser, with a number of companions, was enjoying a swim at No. 1 pumping station at Lawton park. Suddenly the cry went up that two boys had fallen into the deep water near one of the big pipes. Several boys attempted a rescue, but Keiser, alone, was able to dive to the bottom and bring the Cotten and the Buckley boy to the surface.

Young Keiser is very modest about his feat and it was only after some persuasion that he allowed his friends to start the movement to secure a hero medal for him.

BREAKS ARM EIGHTH TIME.

Elkhart, Ind., Sept. 8.—For the eighth time Ralph Lockwood, a young man of Kokomo, is carrying his left arm in a sling because of broken bones. Lockwood's bones are abnormally brittle and are easily broken. Lockwood, with a companion, was riding in an automobile near here when he was pitched out at a sharp turn, breaking his arm.

CAPT. FRANK WILKINSON JOINS SILENT MAJORITY

Former Head of Fort Wayne Police Department Passes Away After Extended Illness.

Frank Wilkinson, ex-chief of police and pioneer resident of Fort Wayne, died this morning at 10:30 o'clock at the family residence, 1525 West Main street, at the age of 75 years, 3 months and 8 days. Death was due to cancer of the face, following an illness of two years' duration. Mr. Wilkinson had been bedfast for three months and during the past week had been failing rapidly, and his death was not only expected by his family but by himself. He was conscious to the last, and death came peacefully and without pain.

The deceased was born in Troy, N. Y., May 1, 1836, and was a son of William Quinlan. Over seventy-five years ago, when but six months of age, he came to Fort Wayne with his parents, who located on a farm three miles out of the city. He was educated in the parish schools of the city, and upon leaving school went with his parents to Noble county on a farm, which they purchased near Columbus. He remained on the farm for a short period and then came to Fort Wayne and for a number of years was employed as fireman on the Pennsylvania railroad.

CAPT. FRANK WILKINSON, Pioneer of Fort Wayne and Once Head of Police Department.

GOES ON POLICE FORCE.

On June 8, 1876, he was appointed lieutenant of police, and served in this capacity until June, 1889, when he was appointed captain of police to succeed Hugh M. Diehl. He served as captain until 1894, when he resigned. His service on the police force reflected unbounded credit to himself and to the department, as he was a man of sterling worth and with a strict regard for duty. He was a rather reticent man and avoided glory for himself in his official acts. He was thoroughly conscientious in the performance of his duty, and gained the good will and respect of every member of the police force who served under him and of the citizens, and it has often

BIGGER GAME IN SMUGGLING CASE

Noted and Wealthy Banker in Involved in Customs Scandal.

HUGE FRAUDS KNOWN

New York, Sept. 8.—The indictment of Nathan Allen, of Kenosha, Wis., and John R. Collins, of Memphis, Tenn., for smuggling the Jenkins jewels, it was learned today, is only one step in the government's prosecution of customs frauds.

A banker even more prominent and wealthy than these millionaires is said to be under investigation and if the federal authorities can accomplish his arrest, it is said, they hope to reach the bottom of an international scandal involving many others, including gem dealers and minor customs employees. The alleged frauds cover a period of several years and it is reported the banker under suspicion enabled his friends also to benefit by his carefully laid scheme. This financier, it is said, has offices in several foreign countries and if arrested he is expected to plead non-residence, with the accompanying right to bring jewels for his own use into the United States free of duty.

Allen and Collins are expected to comply with the United States district attorney's orders to appear here and plead within ten days.

IN HIDING NEAR SCENE OF CRIME

Rockport Youth Who Slew His Rival in Love is Under Arrest.

FRIENDS AIDED HIM

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 8.—Ebbert Meredith, 24 years old, who shot and killed Noah Russell, 19 years old, at Stryker's Landing near Rockport, Ind., six weeks ago in a quarrel over a young woman to whom both were paying attention, was arrested late last night at the home of his brother near Rockport. He had never been more than five miles away from the scene of the crime. Friends, it is charged, provided food for him while he hid in canebrakes and corn fields.

Arrests are expected today in the case of Tony Jung, 22 years old, whose body was found in the Ohio river bearing marks of violence. The police and coroner, working on the case, have information that Jung engaged in a quarrel on an excursion steamer last Sunday night and Jung was struck or pushed into the water.

HIGHWAY SCOUTS EN ROUTE.

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 8.—Pathfinders from Pensacola, Fla., who are scouting to establish a route for a lakes to the gulf highway arrived here today. They will leave for the north this afternoon. Their next stop will be Bowling Green. They expect to reach Chicago by Sept. 11.

TO PROVE WOMAN CAN KEEP SECRET

Lady Mayor of Hunnewell Will Not Tell What Her Plan Is.

WILL BEAT COUNCIL

Hunnewell, Kas., Sept. 8.—"My present duty is to keep a secret, and, though a woman, I shall keep it." This was the reply of Mrs. Ella Wilson, mayor, made upon her arrival here today to all questions concerning the result of her conference in Kansas City, Kas., yesterday with C. W. Trickett, special attorney appointed by Gov. W. R. Stubbs to restore peace between the woman executive and her subordinate council of men.

Hunnewell, for months without an effective government now awaits the meeting of the council next Monday when the secret is expected to come out. From Mayor Wilson's confidential manner it is believed the question of dealing with the rebellious council will be solved at the meeting.

New York's Black Hand
Outrages Did Not End

TAKEN AS A THREAT

New York, Sept. 8.—Just when the police were beginning to congratulate themselves that the arrest of Giuseppe Costabile, "The Fox," had driven the blackhand agents here to cover, another bomb was exploded early today in the heart of the long-suffering Italian colony. The bomb let go in front of the offices of prominent Italian bankers and steamship agents. As usual no one was hurt, but the moral effect of the outrage, coming at a time when the Italian colony had been lulled to fanciful security, was tremendous.

It was the first bomb explosion since last Saturday, a fact significant because of the past month these explosions had occurred on an average of one every two days. But instead of causing the police to lose faith in their belief that in Costabile they have the leader of New York's Italian criminals, the occurrence is regarded as a threat of the vengeance Costabile's associates may exact from any of his fellow countrymen who dare to testify against him. Because he was caught with a bomb under his coat, the grand jury in a day or two is expected to indict Costabile for violating the "dangerous weapon law." Meanwhile the search for more serious evidence against him continues.

been said that no more honest or faithful officer ever wore the uniform of the department.

Upon his retirement from the police force he engaged in the grocery business on Wells street, and later served as chief of police at Robison park, a position which he held for two years. Following this he served as special watchman on the merchant police, and the last position he filled was that of janitor of the Nebraska school. He became ill a little over two years ago with cancer and was compelled to retire from active life.

Man of Charitable Heart.

He was an active worker in the social and political life of the city during his lifetime, and gained many friends both in a social and business way. Charity was one of his governing principles, and without the knowledge of his family or others he relieved suffering and brought cheer into the homes of many poor and destitute families of the city. His own financial condition was not taken into consideration in this regard, for whether he could afford it or not, the aid would always be forthcoming to those worthy of it. He was united in marriage to Margaret H. Gordon, native of Scotland, in July, 1878, two years after being appointed lieutenant of police. He was a devout Catholic and a member of the Cathedral, which he attended regularly until his illness.

Four children were born to this union, and those, with the widow, survive. They are Mrs. George Orr, Jessie Gaskins, Frank, Jr., and Jessie Wilkinson, all of this city. Three brothers, John, Patrick and William Wilkinson, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Schole, and three grand children, all of Fort Wayne, also survive.

Served Under Many Mayors.
Wilkinson's long connection with the Fort Wayne police department extended through the administrations of Mayor Zollinger, Mayor Muhler, Mayor Harding, Mayor Scherer and a portion of the term of Mayor Oakley.

From his place as patrolman he was elevated to the position of captain, then the ranking officer of the police department, corresponding to the present position as chief, and his elevation occurred upon the resignation of Capt. Hugh M. Diehl, who had succeeded Capt. E. B. Smith. Capt.
Wilkinson remained at the head of the police department until the coming of the Oakley administration, when he was succeeded by Capt. W.
F. Borgman and the new charter placed a superintendent over the entire police department. This place was given to James Liggett.

Personnel of the Force.
During the latter portion of Capt.
Wilkinson's official term the personnel of the police department included Lieut. Henry Lapp, Patrolmen John Kennedy, John Trummel, Stephen
Fletcher, William M. Borgman, Erich
Richter, Patrick O'Bryan, Edward Grin, William Knuck, Charles Smith, Frank Murphy, James Smith,
Frank Roelle, H. F. C. Wada, George Siebold and Dennis O'Connor. George Humbrecht, Joseph Gushing, John Swain was driver of the patrol wagon and Andrew Sherrer was station clerk.
Patrolmen Spillner, Murphy and Smith are still in active service.

"Fort Wayne never had a better, straighter or more conscientious police officer than Frank Wilkinson," said Capt. E. B. Smith today when told of the former police head's death.
Was Badly Beaten Up.
Those familiar with police history of Fort Wayne twenty years ago, recall an instance in Capt. Wilkinson's official career in which he was assaulted and so badly beaten up that it is believed his health was permanently affected by his experience. Capt.
Wilkinson entered a saloon on East Columbia street, conducted by a man of the name of Gronendyke, to arrest the proprietor. Gronendyke attacked the officer with a billiard cue and hammered him so frightfully that for several weeks the officer was confined to his bed by his injuries, and it was feared for a time they would prove fatal. Gronendyke later served a term in prison for the offense.

FORM ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

Kerr Murray Employees Get Ready for Bowling and Other Sports.

OFFICERS ARE NAMED

At a meeting held last night, the Kerr Murray Athletic association was formed by employees of the Kerr Murray works, and the following officers named:

H. J. Schiefer, president.
W. V. Sweet, vice president.
H. A. Funt, secretary.
P. F. Ditzer, treasurer.

No definite plans have at present been decided upon, the purpose of the club being to stimulate and develop activity along all lines of sport, among the office and shop employees. A second meeting will be held some time this month to outline the program for the coming year.
An inter-shop bowling league will be organized among the employees of the various shops and departments of the works. This league will be composed of eight teams formed from the machine shop, foundry, boiler shop, pattern shop, shipping department, cost department, purchasing department and drafting department. An effort will also be made to form a new commercial league in this city, and if this effort is successful, a team will be selected from the above eight teams to represent the Kerr Murray manufacturing company. There is no question that the organization will be able to present a strong team, as there are several well-known bowlers in the company.

A baseball nine will also be organized next spring, and a petition will probably be presented for membership in the City Shop league.

WOMAN ROBBED ON TRAIN.

Talked to Nice Young Man Across Dining Table—Out $2,200.

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 8.—Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railway detectives today reported that a woman giving her name as Mrs. A. A. Mc-Cormick, of Chicago, was robbed of a handbag containing $2,200 worth of jewelry last night on a Lake Shore and Michigan Southern passenger train between Toledo and Cleveland.
The robbery took place in the dining car. Stations all along the way have been notified and the road's detectives are on the lookout for a young man who sat opposite Mrs. McCormick and engaged her in conversation.
The stolen jewelry included a $1,000 pearl necklace, a $500 diamond ring and several diamond rings of lesser value.

WOMAN OUT ON BOND.

Mrs. Coney, Who Shot Chicago Architect, is at Liberty.

Chicago, Sept. 8.—After spending a fearful night on a cot in the martain's room of a west side police station, Mrs. Harriet B. Coney, who shot Robert Bruce Watson, wealthy clubman, architect and politician, was arraigned today before Municipal Judge (Gemmill), and hearing of her case continued until Sept. 22. Her bail was fixed at $2,000 and she was released later on bonds signed by a straw bondsmen. She entered the court room with her brother, an attorney.
Watson's wounds are not serious and it is said he will be able to leave the hospital within two weeks.

PAVING IS COMPLETED.

Leith Street Will Be Open to Traffic Tomorrow.

The Barber Asphalt Paving company today completed the work of paving West Leith street from Calhoun to Hoagland avenue, and it will be thrown open to traffic tomorrow.
The east side of Spy Run avenue is now open from the bridge to Elizabeth street.

The work of patching Maumee avenue was taken up today. The street is in such bad condition that approximately 600 square yards of paving will be necessary to patch the holes, and the repairs will cost something like $800.

BIG DOCKET TO START NEW TERM

Total of 612 Cases Await Trial in Superior Court.

COURT HOUSE NOTES

A total of 612 cases are now on the docket awaiting hearing in the Allen superior court, the new term of which will begin next Monday with Judge Carl Yaple presiding. This is an unusually heavy docket. During the past term, which began April 3, a total of some 300 cases were disposed of in the superior court.

County Council Adjourns.
The Allen county council completed its work and adjourned for the present session this afternoon. There were no special appropriations of consequence aside from the $50,000 for the proposed new bridge across the Maumee river at Coombs street.

Wore Gun in Grand Street.
Levi Oswald, who says his home is at Leesburg, was picked up on Grand street with a murderous-looking revolver sticking from his hip pocket, and a little later offered to sell the gun to Patrolman Fry for a quarter.
He offered an ingenious explanation of the presence of the weapon, but did not escape a fine of $5 and costs for carrying concealed weapons.

All Drew Continuances.
C. E. Schiefer, in court on a charge of violating the traffic ordinance, was released upon an indefinite continuance. He took the wrong route about the transfer corner on a bicycle and Patrolman Crawley says the man declined to heed his signal to stop.

John Blakely and John Rummell, arrested near Centerville park and charged with public intoxication, got out on indefinite continuances, as did also Fritz Komp, who declared that he was a peaceable citizen but that some fellows persist in playing "shakes" on him and that it makes him
"sore."

CORN CROP WILL BE A POOR ONE

Government Report Shows
It Several Bushels
Below Average.

IT IMPROVED A BIT

Washington, Sept. 8.—While weather conditions practically throughout the country were reasonably favorable to growing crops during the month of August the crop report issued today by the department of agriculture did not indicate generally much improvement in the condition of the crops over that of a month ago. Some improvement was shown in the great staple crop of corn as of September 1 over August 1, but it amounted to only seven-tenths of one per cent in the aggregate.

The yield of corn per acre this year, as indicated by today's report will be 23.6 bushels per acre as compared with 27.4 bushels last year and an average of 27.1 bushels during the last five years. The average of corn this year, however, is larger than it was last year and the probability is that the crop will not differ greatly in quantity.

Wheat shows a falling off of approximately ten per cent in condition as compared with the average for the last ten years and the yield per acre is about 2 bushels to the acre less this year than the average during the last five years.

Oats also shows a considerable falling off, both in condition and in average yield per acre. While the indicated yield for this year, 23.9 bushels and acre, the final yield for 1910 was 21.9 bushels and the average yield during the last five years was 28.5, the indicated total yield for this year being approximately 15 per cent less than the average for the last five years.

Rye, tobacco, flax and hay all show a heavy falling off in condition and indicated total yield. Potatoes, as was indicated last month, will make a short crop. The condition of potato today was a little more than 10 per cent below that of last year and nearly 2 per cent poorer than it was a month ago. The total yield will be far below that of last year—practically 20 per cent—and nearly 22 per cent below that of the average for the last five years.

REQUISITION FOR A WOMAN.

Governor Harmon Ask Governor Marshall for Her Return.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 8.—A requisition upon Governor Marshall, of Indiana, for the return to Ohio of Res-sie Vest, formerly of Cincinnati, now under arrest in Indianapolis, was issued today at the office of Governor Harmon.

Miss Vest is alleged to have attacked a Cincinnati woman, Margaret Hurd, June 14, with a knife, and inflicted two serious wounds. The attack, it is alleged, was over a game of cards and was aggravated by the Vest woman's alleged jealousy of Miss Hurd.

Lloyd and Division Commercial Superintendent M. T. Cook, of Chicago,

A. Montgomery, of this city. Among other matters the managers will consider laws regulating the employment of women and children.

ROOSEVELT IS FOE OF TREATIES

New York, Sept. 8.—Former President Roosevelt deals with the arbitration treaties, recently presented to the senate, in an editorial appearing in the current number of the Outlook.
He says in part:

"It is one of our prime duties as a nation to seek peace. It is an even higher duty to seek righteousness. It also is our duty not to indulge in shams, not to make believe we are getting peace by some patent contrivance which sensible men ought to know can not work in practice, and which, if we sought to make it work, might cause irretrievable harm. I sincerely believe in the principle of arbitration; I believe in applying that principle so far as practicable, but I feel the effort to apply it where it is not practicable can not do good and may do serious harm. Confused thinking and a willingness to substitute words for thought, even though inspired by an entirely amiable sentimentality, do not tend toward sound action."

Holds Treaty Defective.

"We, the American people, believe, and ought to believe, in righteousness first, and in peace as the handmaid of righteousness. We abhor brutality and wrongdoing, whether exhibited by nations or by individuals. We hold that the same law of righteousness should obtain between nation and nation as between man and man. I, for one, would rather cut off my hand than to see the United States adopt the attitude either of cringing before great and powerful nations who wish to wrong us, or by bullying small and weak nations who have done us no wrong."

"The proposed arbitration treaty is defective, in the first place, because it is not straightforward. It sets forth that all 'justiciable' matters shall be arbitrated. The language both of the opponents and the defenders of the treaty shows that even among our own people, and before a case for applying the treaty has arisen there is hopeless confusion as to what 'justiciable' means."

Points Alleged Defects.

"Now, no moral movement is permanently inspired by hypocrisy. Does the proposed treaty include the Monroe doctrine, the Platt amendments with Cuba, the payment of state bonds to European bondholders, the question whether various European countries are entitled to the same concessions that Canada is to receive under the reciprocity agreement the right of other foreign nations to interfere in Panama, our own right to exclude any immigrants whom we choose to exclude?"

"If these questions arise, I am sure our representatives, privately or publicly, would inform foreign powers (and indeed would have to inform foreign powers) that the American people would never abide by an agreement to arbitrate them; in which case the only proper course to follow is that followed by the senate committee, and to say in honest fashion that there are certain questions which this nation will not arbitrate at the dictation of an outside body. Critics of the senate in this matter talk as if it had 'usurped' a right; in reality, the senate has merely performed a duty."

Fears "Fatal" Clause.

"The fatally objectionable feature of the proposed treaty is the clause providing that the joint high commission, which may be composed conclusively of 'nationals' of the two countries, but which also may be composed exclusively of foreigners, may be unanimously, or by vote of all but one of its members, determine that any given question whatever must be arbitrated."

"If the president, after consulting with his constitutional advisers, the senate, could not make up his mind about such a vital question, and had to have it made up for him by outsiders—possibly foreigners, and certainly not responsible to the people —it would be proof positive that he was not fit to hold the exalted position to which he had been elected. A president unfit to make such a 'decision himself, and willing to have somebody else make it for him, would also be unfit to perform any of the really important duties of the presidency."

Binding Declared Against.

"We, the people of the United States, can not and will not surrender to outsiders the powers to determine whether or not we are fit to decide for ourselves what are our vital needs, and what are the policies proper for meeting these needs. In other words, Uncle Sam does not intend to wrong any one, but neither does he intend to bind himself, if his pocket is picked, his home burglarized or his face slapped, to 'arbitrate' with the wrongdoer; and as long as he does not intend so to vote of all but one of its members, he will not bind himself to be so bound himself."

"In the history of our country, the peace advocates, who treat peace as more than righteousness, will never be, and never have been, of service, either to it or to mankind. The true lovers of peace, the men who have really helped onward the movement for peace, have been those who followed, even though afar off, the footsteps of Washington and Lincoln, and stood for righteousness as the supreme end of national life. Only by acting on these principles, only by following in the footsteps of these great Americans of the past, can we of the present generation effectively work for and secure the peace of righteousness."

some time and would be ready to han-

"SHOOTING" PIKE'S PEAK.

Two Easterners Tumbled Down the Cog Railway.

Colorado Springs, Colo., Sept. 8.—
Two easterners, R. O. Green, of New York, and H. H. Harden, of Detroit, were "shot" Pike's Peak on a railroad "toboggan," a greased board with cleats that fit over the cog rail of the mountain railroad, starting from a point above the half way house and reaching Manitou at the base of the peak, a distance of about five miles, in five minutes and thirty-seven seconds.

"Shooting the peak" was more or less common sport some years ago, but was stopped by the officials of the cog road, because, as the management put it, "the foolkiller got on the job too often."

NEWS OF FORT WAYNE'S NEIGHBORS

LIME BURNS MAY RESULT IN DEATH

Elkhart Mason Falls Into Mortar Box—Physicians Say He Has Small Chance.

Elkhart, Ind., Sept. 5.—Suffering terribly, his eyes burned with lime so severely that he may lose his sight, the prostrate body of Ernest Burk, 23 years old, was dragged from a mortar box by masons who were doing some work at the residence of Mrs. Pettire Hill, West Jackson street, about 9 o'clock yesterday morning. When discovered, Burk's head was submerged in the lime mortar.

It is supposed that Burk, who is said to have been afflicted with epilepsy, was seized with an attack and fell into the mortar box while the masons for whom he was tender were at work in the basement of the Hill home.

The unfortunate man was discovered by Daniel Nitro, one of the masons in the employ of Contractor Eugene Searles by whom Burk also was employed. Upon emerging from the basement after mortar, Nitro observed first Burk's hat lying upon the ground near the shocking extent of the victim's predicament.

The victim was taken to Clark hospital. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon he had not regained consciousness.

The attending physician stated that Burk had swallowed and inhaled the poisonous lime and that there was grave danger of septic pneumonia developing as a result. The chances for Burk's recovery are considered extremely small.

The victim is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Burk, 236 East Lexington avenue.

INFANTILE PARALYSIS.

Dread Disease Attacks Small Victim at Garrett.

Garrett, Ind., Sept. 5.—Master Jack Grant, 3-year-old son of Ollie Grant, of North Owen street, is attacked by infantile paralysis, both limbs being paralyzed, and his case is considered very serious.

The child has been ill but two weeks, and as yet the dread disease has not affected his growth.

DeKalb county has often congratulated itself on escaping the disease, as very few cases have developed here. Owing to the fact that infantile paralysis is baffling the most noted physicians of the country, the news of the invasion of the malady is a terror to the city.

KILLED AT HAMILTON.

Wabash, Ind., Sept. 5.—Word was received in this city late Wednesday to the effect that Nell Busch, who formerly held a position with the Big Four here, had been killed in the railroad yards at Hamilton, Ohio, where he was employed. The message which conveyed the sad tidings of the young man's death gave no details and merely stated that he had been killed. However, as he was engaged in railroad work, and it is believed that he was a member of a switching crew, the theory among his friends here is that he fell between cars while he was engaged in work.

LAGRANGE FARMER DIES.

Lagrange, Ind., Sept. 5.—Charles Duntun, aged 62 years, a prominent farmer, died Thursday afternoon at 1 o'clock at his home, a mile and a half southwest of Lagrange. Death was due to Bright's disease, and followed an illness of several weeks' duration. The deceased is survived by a widow, four sons, Raymond, Merle, Berne and James Duntun, and one daughter, Pearl Duntun, one brother, M. W. Duntun, of Seattle, Wash., and two half brothers, F. H. Johnson, of Lagrange, and Edward Johnson, of Mississippi.

COUNCIL REFUSES TO AID HOSPITAL

Wabash County Board Makes No Appropriation—Hospital Doors May Close.

Wabash, Ind., Sept. 5.—As a result of yesterday morning's meeting of the board of Wabash county councilmen, the proposition to vote a thousand-dollar appropriation to assist in the maintenance of the Wabash county hospital was turned down.

The result will be that the institution will in all probability be closed. Three members of the county council, practically every person in the city of Wabash and the majority of the residents of the outlying districts feel that the board has done grievously wrong. The votes of Councilmen Miller, Crunkleton and Bruckhart defeated the proposition.

Councilman Squires was one of the most enthusiastic advocates of the movement. "I want to go on record as being in favor of this appropriation. I want my name to go down on the county records as voting to give the hospital this thousand dollars. I want the future generations to know I favored it," said Mr. Squires.

There is much indignation on the part of many at the action taken as it is believed that the refusal to make this appropriation will mean the closing of the doors of the institution. The members of the board who supported the movement deeply regret the outcome.

TO REMODEL INFIRMARY.

Huntington, Ind., Sept. 5.—While on a visit to the county infirmary Wednesday, the board of commissioners went over the old building and outlined plans for remodeling. The work will not be done until next year and will not be as extensive as was urged by the state health officials. Among the changes will be the moving of a partition to make the present kitchen smaller, so that a dining room for the women can be installed. At present the women eat in the kitchen and come in contact with the men while going to meals. That will give two dining rooms instead of one. Places for bath rooms and closets were also located.

OPERA HOUSE FOR OSSIAN.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 5.—From indications Ossian is to have a new opera house and town hall. A. S. Elzey, prominent citizen of the Jefferson township city, is at the head of the movement for the new building and yesterday morning he said that the new structure will be erected by a stock company, now being organized. At noon Mr. Elzey had raised several hundred dollars of the money to be used in the new building.

DEATH DUE TO FALL.

Piercetown, Ind., Sept. 5.—Lascia A. Goering, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Goering, died at this place on Wednesday as the result of injuries she received last Friday, when she fell from a gravel wagon while playing. At the time of the accident her condition was not considered serious. It is thought that the injury affected her spine, she being unable to lift her head during the last couple of days. She did not complain of much pain. Mr. Goering is operator at the Pennsylvania tower in Piercetown.

CELEBRATION AT MILFORD.

Milford, Ind., Sept. 5.—Thursday was Milford day. The day started with very threatening weather and for a time it looked as if the time for the big annual event had been poorly selected, but as the forenoon progressed the clouds disappeared and the day became ideal. All during the day the Winona Interurban railway carried large crowds from the north and south and hundreds of people drove in from all parts of the surrounding country. The crowd was reported very satisfactory. A very good program was offered. Warsaw was well represented during the afternoon.

AUTO WRECKED AT ARCOLA.

Columbia City, Ind., Sept. 5.—While returning to this city from Fort Wayne in George Weick's touring car, Fred Grant and his two small nephews met with what might have been a serious accident while passing the Catholic church at Arcola. The rear wheel of the car caught in a rut and the machine turned turtle, pinning the driver and the boys beneath the seats. Fortunately none of the occupants of the car was seriously injured.

THRESHERS WILL PICNIC.

Portland, Ind., Sept. 5.—The threshing companies of Jay, Wells, Adams and Blackford counties will have a picnic tomorrow in the Eberly grove, a quarter mile south of Flat. An entertainment contest between the companies will take place, as also a championship wheat and oats growers contest. An exhibition of the old way of threshing grain with the flail will be made and a ball game will be on the program.

POPULAR COUPLE WED.

Bluffton, Ind., Sept. 5.—The marriage of Miss Nina Hatfield to Mr. Howard Marsh, of Indianapolis, which was solemnized Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. I. N. Hatfield, on West Cherry street, was one of the most delightful of the numerous autumn nuptials, celebrating the union of two young people who are well known and highly popular in Bluffton. The occasion was a most happy one.

BURNS PROVE FATAL.

Mrs. Yager Did Not Survive Injuries Received in Explosion.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Mary Yager, the aged resident of this city, who was terribly burned in a gasoline explosion Wednesday afternoon, died shortly after 11 o'clock that night. The burns were of such nature that attending physicians held out little hope for the recovery of the patient, and the doctors could only ease the sufferer's pains as death drew near.

Mrs. Yager spent almost her entire life in this county, having been born in Ohio August 16, 1840, of Thomas and Phebe Archibald, who moved to Wells county in 1848. October 24, 1861, she married Jacob Yager, and they settled in Preble township on a forty-acre farm, which they improved. Here they lived eleven years, moving to Decatur for two years and a half, then to St. Mary's township, on a 195-acre farm. Later they again removed to this city. The five children were born to the union are left to mourn the loss of their mother.

The funeral was held this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the Baptist church of this city.

AGED WOMAN EXPIRES.

Decatur, Ind., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, aged 95, of near Monmouth, expired yesterday afternoon; death being indirectly caused by heart trouble. The pioneer woman was well known throughout this community, and her sudden death comes as a shock to numerous relatives and friends. Mrs. Robinson is believed to have been at the time of her death the oldest person in the county. She had been a resident in her community since the earlier part of the last century. She leaves three children: Mrs. Frances McCampbell, of north of the city; Miss Maria, at home, and ex-County Treasurer Perry Robinson, of this city. The first and second wives of the late Wilson Lewton were her daughters, and their children, Mrs. L. W. Frank and ex-County Auditor Lewton, of this city, were their children, both being reared by "Grandma" Robinson.

A QUIET WEDDING.

Churubusco, Ind., Sept. 5.—Sidney Ort, of this place, and Miss Mary McConnell, of Thornecreek township, were quietly united in marriage Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. McConnell, Rev. Harris, of Wakarusa, officiating. A wedding supper followed at which a number of invited guests were present.

CITY DEMANDS WATCHMEN.

Kendallville, Ind., Sept. 5.—That the Lake Shore railroad company should provide a watchman at the Main street crossing night and day was the consensus of opinion of the city council at the session Wednesday evening when the question was brought up as to what is to be done about sufficient protection at this crossing.

BRITISH STRIKE EXPLAINED.

He was some kind of minor railway official and gave his views on the strike epidemic. "It isn't socialism, it's weather. When it's 'ot as 'ot as this it don't take much to make men down tools. Foremen get a bit snappy, as is only natural; the feller sees all the world off 'oliday making, so what d'ye expect 'em to do but take the day's good they 'ave of making 'oliday. A good week's drizzle 'd make to end these strikes than all the arbitrators in England."—Manchester Guardian.

MONROEVILLE.

Monroeville, Ind., Sept. 5.—Mrs. Alonzo Johnson and children, Virgil and Florence, of Fort Wayne, were guests of friends here for a few days. John Casselman made a business trip to Decatur Thursday.

The Fort Wayne Magdalenians will play the locals again Sunday. The game Monday was an exceptionally interesting one. They have already won two out of three games from the locals this season.

Friends and neighbors to the number of 78 gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Presuhn Wednesday evening to help celebrate Mr. Presuhn's thirty-ninth birthday. It was a complete surprise and the evening was an enjoyable one. All brought well-filled baskets.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emanuel Hart, in Union township, Adams county, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Alta, to Gilbert Shaffer. Rev. E. E. Campbell, of the Lutheran church, officiated. The bride and groom are well known and have hosts of friends. They left last evening for Bucyrus, O., and after a short trip will be at home to their friends on the V. L. Shaffer farm, near Monroeville.

Mrs. Julia Kent, of Fort Wayne, was the guest of Mrs. F. Stabe Thursday.

Mrs. Gertrude Donovan, of Kalid, O., is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith.

The two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Meeks died very suddenly this morning of spasms. The parents reside on a farm near Monroeville. The funeral will be held Saturday at the M. E. church.

Rev. G. W. Martin and wife are visiting friends over Sunday. Rev. Martin was formerly located here and will deliver the sermon at the Sunday morning service at the M. E. church.

HOT-WEATHER LIVER TROUBLE

Many people who generally enjoy good health suffer from biliousness in the summer time. Rich foods served ice-cold are difficult to digest by the majority, and often produce a chilling of the entire digestive tract. The liver thus becomes sluggish, when the condition known as biliousness results. This is often accompanied by constipation or indigestion. Serious as it may seem, however, to the unfortunate person, it is easily curable with a remedy such as the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a great laxative and tonic, and which contains ingredients that act upon the liver and stimulate it. It will relieve a hot weather liver complaint over night and cure the stomach, liver or bowels, your first concern should be a supply of this grand remedy, which you can obtain of any druggist for 50 cents or $1.00 a bottle. There will be enough and to spare for your complaint and that of your family. A FREE TRIAL BOTTLE will be sent to those who have never used it if they send their name and address to

CONDITION OF THE RIVERS.

Censure of the city by the Allen county board of commissioners for the condition of the three water-courses in Fort Wayne is timely and well-deserved, even if without special merit as "news." The rivers are in a state of foulness not to be described and their banks are such a panorama of filth, litter and debris as no words can do justice to. The commissioners moderately recommend steps for improvement.

The river improvement project had this condition in mind when it was put under way. It still has it in mind, and if its labors bear fruit and its dreams are realized this condition will be in good time wiped out and the way made for cleanliness and beauty. Certainly it will be a sorry pass if the day comes when it must be confessed that the people of Fort Wayne are indifferent to the filth which accumulates and festers in their streams and are patient with the littered and unsightly banks which stretch an aggregate of many miles through the city and for a long distance almost in the center of it.

The river improvement project contemplates purified streams and ornamented banks accommodating handsome and inviting drives and parked places of alluring beauty. Everything is here with which to work wonders—devious streams, naturally adapted banks, wooded tracts and open spaces—and there are miles of these free assets. Alone are needed the will of the people that the improvement shall be wrought and their acquiescence in the means to do it. Fort Wayne cannot permit conditions to remain as they are without putting discredit and shame upon herself. Does the censure of the commissioners stick?

THE CITY AND THE GARDENERS.

It is absurd to suppose there is no ground upon which the city government and market gardeners who sell in Fort Wayne's market place cannot get together in an amicable settlement of the present dispute. If Fort Wayne is to have a market place, undeniably it must be regulated, and if the city is to have the benefit of direct dealing between producer and consumer producers must be as little hampered as is possible with proper regulation of the market place. But that there is an irreconcilable conflict between the city and gardeners and farmers that can be settled only by appeal to the courts we do not believe. Let there be appeal to reason before an appeal to strife, and we doubt not that the issue will be a solution of the complex and embittered situation. It will be a misfortune that the city and the country will share in common if out of this dispute is bred an enduring antagonism. Fort Wayne wants and needs the trade of the rural territory legitimately and naturally tributary to her, and the farming community needs and should have the advantages of Fort Wayne as a market place. Negotiations directly between the producers and the city without the intervention of the courts ought to be a matter of ready possibility. Let the gardeners and farmers and the city government see what may be accomplished by frank discussion and an uppermost desire for peace. Neither the city nor the country can have any wish to further embitter a contest that already has gone far enough.

Former Senator James A. Hemenway announces with emphasis that he has it not in design to desert his cabbages and cows for the excitements and distractions of politics, and that the tale which has him aspiring to return to congress from his old Indiana district is merely a tale. The fact that Mr. Hemenway's old district has almost acquired the steady habit of going democratic probably has something to do with enhancing the joys of the simple life and the peace of bucolic pursuits.

Mr. Poirson may be some bad, but not bad enough to be disqualified under the benign Proctor law to sell liquor. It is, however, found by the board of commissioners that as a dispensary of refreshments not liquid his place should feel the strong arm of state regulation and the morals and digestion of Fort Wayne are to profit to that extent. Which, all things considered and allowed for, is a good deal.

The worst of the anti-reciprocity grange of Connecticut saw fit to do in recognition of the greatest living knight of reciprocity was to withhold official sanction of his visit to the state fair of the Nutmeg commonwealth. This was somewhat offset by the enthusiasm of the crowds, who seemed at least to realize that they had a president of the United States ornamenting their agricultural exhibit for the first time in its history.

The doting papa of Mrs. Upton Sinclair says he will stand by Daughter Meta in whatever she may choose in her wisdom to do with respect to her estranged and divorce-hunting husband. If what has been said is a fair sample of Meta, she will probably not care to share the spotlight even with papa. One on one stage is plenty in a situation of the sort.

Senator Bailey will go to New York when he retires and there practice law. What's the matter with remaining in Texas and practicing in New York, or Washington, or elsewhere? He has contrived to make out very well with it, according to the Hearst enlightenments.

In their petition for an injunction to restrain the city market ordinances the farmers and gardeners assert there is a middlemen's trust seeking to enforce a monopoly against the consumers of Fort Wayne. Is there, and whose business is it to find out about this? The charge is worth an inquiry.

Buelah Binford has gone to New York to star in moving pictures, and Paul Beattie is to follow for an engagement in vaudeville. It's up to that jury to fence the country from similar affliction by the chief actor in the tragedy and scandal that has given Beulah and Paul a marketable notoriety.

All the money in the city treasury now and forevermore cannot make the present location of the garbage crematory a proper location.

MR. EDISON ABROAD.

(New York World.)
All through the remarks dropped by the wayside by Thomas A. Edison during his travels in Europe appears that acute observation of practical details allied with seer-like powers of the imagination which has made possible his feats of wizardry in the field of scientific invention. As caught fresh from his lips day by day by the World's correspondent and assembled elsewhere in these columns, they reveal the inexhaustible fertility of his master-mind. At sixty-four he is taking his first vacation, and by hard work and little exercise he firmly believes he will live to be a hundred or more.
Mr. Edison finds good wherever he goes without abating a jot his sturdy Americanism. French bread he pronounces the best in the world, and the cigarette-smoking habit of the French and other Latins a sure cause of racial degeneracy. Mr. Edison himself smokes big black cigars, and when not smoking carries one in his mouth. The industry, thrift and intelligence of the French peasants excite his admiration, yet he finds among them little evidence of progress in the way of a desire for proper housing and farm improvements. The burden of inherited traditions and customs under which they labor weighs on a man who himself has burst all traditions and imposed ideas of his own on the world.
With the Roosevelt notions about race suicide and big families he is not in sympathy. "The French are wiser," he thinks, in contenting themselves with fewer children and being able to provide them with a proper scope for earning their livelihood."

Standing in front of Notre Dame he muses on what the cost of the great cathedral must have meant to the people in the middle ages. Yet he shows a strong religious spirit when he says: "I am not a non-believer in God. All scientists in getting nearer and nearer to the great first cause feel that about and through and in everything there is the play of an eternal mind."
In Portugal Mr. Edison would be a republican, in England a radical of a moderate bent. At the end of 2000 years he predicts that there will not be a monarchical government left in the world. The building of schools, the spread of education, the development of plain common sense among the people, augur the end of the tyranny of hereditary institutions.
War will go the same way, he declares. "The deadly effects of inventions," high explosives, the aeroplane, promise to make them so destructive that humanity will not tolerate armed quarrels between nations of which arbitration can remove the causes. "The power of science that has been let loose must overwhelm aggressive diplomacy."

Work and individual efficiency are Mr. Edison's gospel, yet all his thoughts run to the harnessing of waterfalls and the industrial and household use of electricity. He is not a man who shall till his fields by pressing a button and the day laborer's toil shall end with electric current. When such dreams are realized, what will be left for manual labor to do? But let who will reconcile Mr. Edison's theories with facts. He creates his own facts.

LAW AND WEAPONS.

(Pittsburgh Dispatch.)
There is a curious situation in New York as a result of the enactment of the law, which is a favorite in police circles, prohibiting the carriage of firearms. This act, as passed, makes it a felony to carry concealed firearms, and a misdemeanor to have firearms in possession. The former provision has wide acceptance, even though it puts into the criminal class the man who may seek a revolver in his pocket for self-defense in an emergency.
But the inclusion in the list of offenders of the man who may keep a gun in his house for defense against burglars wakes up the public to an unexpected degree. One man who has a collection of antique firearms writes to the papers to know whether he is liable to prosecution if he keeps them. To this he receives the disturbing assurance that so far as can be judged, in the absence of judicial construction, he had better rush to police headquarters and get a permit.

On the other hand, there are not wanting those who nurse a belligerent spirit, and think there is virtue in the clause of the United States constitution that "the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed." To this the reply is made that the law does not forbid the people to keep and bear arms; it simply regulates the practice of requiring a permit. There is a further development of a constitutional theory that this clause of the United States constitution forbids congress from infringing on that right, but does not rule the state legislatures. There is this color to that view, that an early decision on the first amendment to the constitution held that it restrained congress from establishing a national religion, but did not prevent any state from doing so. Nevertheless, we make bold to predict that if any state should enact the disqualification of all except the members of a specified religious denomination, it would speedily be discovered to be as unconstitutional as abridging the freedom of speech or the right of petition. That states have the right of regulation in indisputable, but it is far from clear that they can stretch it to the extent of prohibition.

We have little faith in this sort of legislation, for the simple reason that the class which violates the law of highway robbery or burglary will not hesitate at the minor offense of carrying weapons. The result will naturally be that the law-abiding class as a whole will be left without means of defense, while the criminals will have the illegal weapons. The matter has got so hot in New York as to produce a charge that the police support this law because it will enable them to reward criminals who serve their purposes with permits to carry weapons.

A WIDE GAP.

(Washington Post.)
The fact has been long established that the price of food products at the point of production has not increased in the last ten years at the rate of retail prices to the consumer. The farmer, while participating to some degree in the rise, according to the showing of the department of agriculture, has not received more than a tithe of what the city dweller has been obliged to pay for the same article.

THE PROPHET IN PRIVATE LIFE.

(Popular Magazine.)
Friends of Prof. Willis L. Moore, who is the head of the weather bureau, and the man who tells the whole country whether it will be clear or cloudy for the next twenty-four hours, says he always carries an umbrella with him for fear it will rain.

THE CARVERS OF NEW ZEALAND.

Elaborate Work in Wood and Stone is Done by the Maoris.

(J. M. Ingram in the Century Magazine.)

While making a tour over New Zealand, I spent some time among the natives, and took great interest in their beautiful carving. From time immemorial carving has been the chief accomplishment of the Maoris. It is not now followed so extensively as at an earlier period in their history. Originally it was more the favorite diversion of the tribal elders, who were too slow for the chase or too feeble for war expeditions. The notable activity of the Maori temperament then found expression in the practice of this art. The carving was done with crude tools—flint knives and stone axes—and on seasoned wood almost as hard as metal. For a long period the enthusiasm for this type of decoration was general.

Stone, coral, pearl and ivory are also patterned by the Maori imagination. Indomitable industry, skill and ingenuity produce designs so symmetrical as to appear to be executed by mechanical means. The ancient teachers of this tracery were men of tribal circumstances, rewarded by the chiefs and holding positions of honor under the kings.

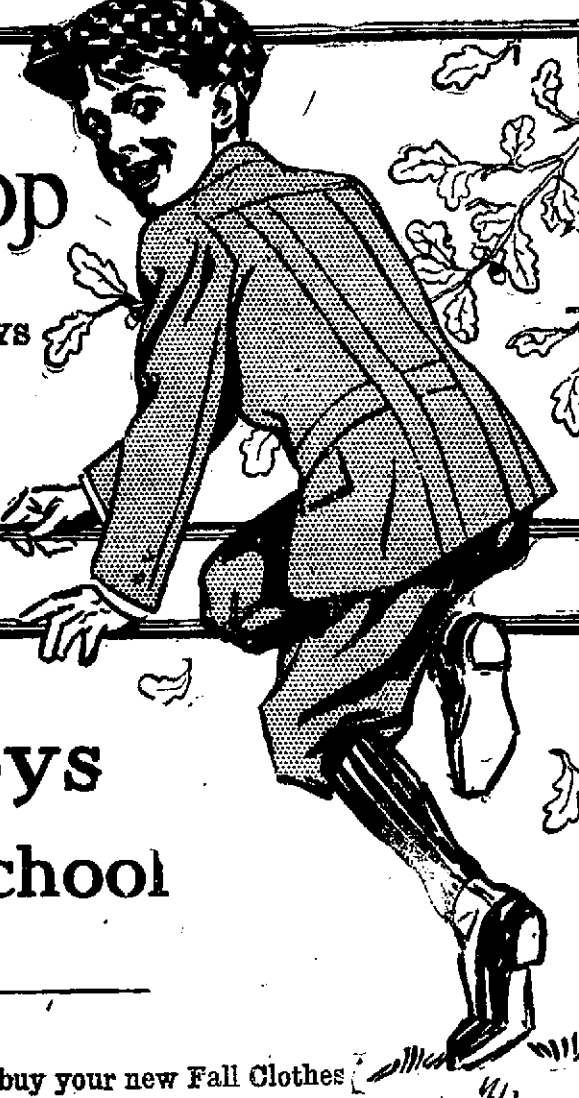

On North island, New Zealand, I found the best examples of native handicraft. The doorways and windows of native dwellings are enriched with carvings, and gateways are sentinelled with carved figures. The streets of every village exhibit a unique array of images. The most prominent families boast imposing collections of carved and chiseled work. Some noted Maoris have household accumulations—ancestral legacies—or carved curiosities of many decades. The best work has been given to the royal families for the decoration of their palaces, and to official buildings and sacred structures. Maori council houses are museums of weird and grotesque wood-carvings.

Almost everything in nature—the fowls of the air, the animals of the forest, the fish of the sea—has been carved by the indefatigable Maori mallet and chisel. Gods were cut into stone, and attributes of deities traced on granite. Sacred temples were thus made haunts of statuary, where deistical images of many characters, degrees and powers were grouped. Above the council of stone gods sat the Supreme Ruler, who unrolled the firmament like a scroll. Subordinate gods occupied lower positions in the carved cabinet of deities.

The Maori work exhibits trained cunning, laborious workmanship, tenacious energy, an imagination of large perspective and an ancestral heritage of artistic genius.

ARTISTIC TEMPERAMENT?

Paderewski is said to have displayed philosophical calm during the fire that destroyed the buildings on his fancy poultry farm, and the unkind explanation is given that the greater financial interest in the place is held by Mme. Paderewski! But why should an artist not be as self-controlled as the next man in a crisis not related to his art? There is no mystery, necessarily, in the fact of a musician's going to pieces at a wrong note, but being unmoved by the sight of a conflagration. The situation would have been vastly different if the great pianist had been viewing the burning of Rome to the discordant accompaniment of Nero's violin. The artistic temperament is nothing if not the acme of sensitiveness, but where its particular sphere is not concerned, it is not by necessity

PAINTS FINISHES

Five Strong Reasons For Fall Painting

1. The wood is thoroughly dry.
Summer's sun has removed all moisture.
2. Paint penetrates deeper into dry wood.
The deeper it goes the better it holds.
3. Fall weather is warm, dry and dependable.
Little danger of cold, damp, rainy days, which endanger the durability of the paint.
4. Wet weather decays and destroys unprotected surfaces.
Damp point means unsightly and less valuable property.
5. Fall painting keeps out winter moisture.
The greatest enemy to the life and beauty of all structures.

WRIT SERVED ON CITY OFFICIALS

Cannot Collect Fees from Market Gardeners Tomorrow.

ABOUT THE CITY HALL

Late yesterday afternoon deputies from the sheriff's office served upon Market Master Brown, Chief of Police Abbott and members of the board of public safety the temporary injunction granted by Judge O'Rourke in the circuit court restraining them from collecting fees under the market ordinance until the case is finally determined.

Tomorrow, therefore, they will not be allowed to interfere with the operations upon the city market. The case is to be heard in the circuit court on Monday.

Mayor Grice Home.
Mayor and Mrs. Jesse Grice returned last night from a week in Chicago, where they have been visiting friends while the mayor was endeavoring to recuperate from a severe attack of stomach trouble. Mr. Grice is considerably improved, but is not entirely convalescent.

Lighting System Grows.

Figures given out at the office of the board of public works today show that the municipal lighting plant now has in operation 535 arc lights on the streets of Fort Wayne and 24 alley lamps. The system started three years ago with 418 lamps. There are now 2,275 private consumers.

Much interest will attend the meeting this evening to discuss the new tax levy, at which Controller Cutsall has invited members of the public boards to meet the council and explain in detail the plans which require a raise in the levy for the new year. The Commercial club committee is also expected to attend the meeting and present its report of the club's action favoring the increased levy.

Board of Works Routine.
The board of public works will not attempt to pave Fourth street this year as it is too late in the season. At the meeting last night the board confirmed its selection of shale brick, but made no award.

The contract for the ornamental lamp posts was held up until Monday afternoon as the board members had not fully decided on the cheapest and best.

Although there was some objection the assessment roll for paving Wildwood avenue was confirmed.

Assessment rolls for paving Calhoun street from Superior to Eureka, Calhoun street from Baker to a point eighty-one feet south, Clinton street from Wallace to Harrison street and Barr street from Ormiston addition to Duhan street were confirmed.

Assessment rolls for new sidewalks on Maud street from Thomas street to Holton avenue, and Kentucky avenue from Forest Park boulevard to State street were confirmed.

Assessment rolls for sidewalks on Euclid avenue from Creighton avenue to Pontiac street and for paving Clay street from Columbia to Washington streets were approved.

Resolutions for paving the alleys between Brackridge and Baker streets from Calhoun to Harrison streets and between Calhoun and Harrison streets from Brackridge to Baker streets were adopted.

An assessment roll for sidewalks on Miner street from Creighton avenue to Grace avenue was approved. The Moellering Construction company reported the pavement in the alley between Main and Berry streets from Van Buren to Jackson streets completed and the board ordered a primary assessment roll prepared.

dent as an instance of the danger of circumstantial evidence.

"You heard the boys testify," he continued, "of their trip from Bon Air; how they saw a man in front of an automobile and a woman on the running board. How must you have felt when Mr. Kestelberg himself came forward and thrust aside all suspicion that Henry Beattie or his wife was in that machine. This, gentlemen, illustrates the danger of making up your minds until a case is closed, a pit into which many jurymen and even judges often have fallen.

Ignorant of State's Theory.
"With all due respect to the gentleman who opened the case for the commonwealth we do not yet know the theory of the prosecution. He who closes for the commonwealth, therefore, has a distinct advantage in weaving together theories from facts we have not known. What can have been the purpose of Mr. Snyder's testimony that he saw a young man alone on the Midlothian turnpike early on the evening of the tragedy? It must be that they think the accused went to the stump they have talked about and placed the gun there a few hours before the crime. But there is a man of intelligence, who on the witness stand must have impressed you as a man of kind disposition, and yet they want you to believe that he prepared in this blundering fashion for the crime—a more heinous and brutish has seldom been heard of."

Mr. Smith dwelt at length on the question of reasonable doubt, re-reading the instructions to the jury on this point.
"It is inconceivable that this young man could for three days live in the same house with his dear father and loving family, could kiss them each night, with this terrible crime on his mind. It is inconceivable, gentlemen.
"In taking away a human life you are face to face with God Almighty and unless you are convinced to a moral certainty that this young man committed the dastardly crime you must of necessity bring in a verdict of not guilty."

"You have been shown the dangers of circumstantial evidence, but I will show you that the accused must have been only a blundering idiot to have committed the murder. For he then picked out a much traveled road where everybody could see him. In full view he hides a gun. I may as well say, that if he thought out or planned this crime why, can you tell me, should he have used a shot gun when a pistol, easily procured and easily concealed without taking anybody into his confidence, could have been used?"

Appeals in Behalf of Family.
"Gentlemen, there is more than one human life at stake—not only the life of this young man but that of his father, the future of the brother and the good name of a sister. They all appeal to you, clariion tongue, to give them the benefit of the doubt. And I want to say here what I am glad to say of an old friend that would be glad to rest this case on the testimony of Tom Owen, uncle of the dead woman, who was the fastest man I ever saw on the witness stand. And Tom Owen was the first person to whom this boy opened his lips when he brought in his dead wife. Gentlemen, if there were any discrepancies in his story they would have appeared then and I offer to rest your judgment with that testimony alone. Our mail has been flooded," said Mr. Smith, "with newspaper clippings and letters of people from all over the United States, telling of the dangers of circumstantial evidence."

"I don't think you should have mentioned that," interjected Prosecutor Wendenburg.
"Well, if it was wrong, I hope his honor will rule it out, for I want to secure your verdict only by fair means."

Mr. Smith then closed with particular stress on the reluctantly given testimony of Kestelberg as indicating the danger of circumstantial evidence.

Letting Kestelberg Down.
"I don't ask you," said Mr. Smith, "to believe all the testimony of Kestelberg. I don't ask you to believe that he did not know the woman he was out with that night. He said that to save trouble in two homes, but what you must believe is that it was his car and not Henry Beattie's which the boys saw."

Characterizing Paul Beattie as a "moral wreck" the lawyer held up the testimony of the cousin as influenced by strong minded detectives.

"We do not believe that Paul Beattie was guilty of this crime. The question has probably occurred to you as

UNANIMOUS FOR HIGHER TAX LEVY

Dr. E. J. McOscar, "and we cannot get it without paying for it. It seems to me this question solves itself.

A Strong Indicator.
Charles J. Scheiman said that during the past few weeks he had been interviewing many east side people, who were largely working men and small home-owners, and they were in favor of the increase in the levy. He thought this ought to be a strong indicator for this meeting.

Col. D. N. Foster said that in point of fact this was but one of a series of similar meetings that had been held in various parts of the city, and that each had demanded the improvements now in contemplation. There is a sort of superstition about the tax levy, said Col. Foster—an impression that nobody must raise it. Last year the city council reduced its levy 2 cents and he questioned if anybody cared about it or even noticed the reduction. The increased levy, properly expended, he believed, would be strongly popular.

Dr. W. W. Shryock took the floor just long enough to declare that "West Berry street is in favor of this tax levy to meet the city's needs and for the Western Gas Construction posts."

All of One Mind.

There was an entire absence of the opposition which confronted the vehicle tax proposition a week earlier, and Henry Beattie ventured the opinion that the people were about all of one mind in favoring the increased levy. "We're all for Fort Wayne with might and main, for progress, advancement and improvement," said Mr. Beattie. "People who are here and those who are not here favor a good increase in the levy by which it will be possible to secure improvements. We want our tax levy raised—that's what we're here for."

Dr. W. D. Calvin also supported the increase proposition. He cited the fact that had streets alone worn out vehicles, horses and nerve energy of infinitely more value than the increase would amount to. "We should give no consideration to politics, but stand together for civic improvement," said Dr. Calvin.

Editor A. J. Moynihan, of the Journal-Gazette, said he did not believe the voice of any man, rich or poor, would be heard in protest against the increase if the money therefrom is honestly, uniformly and fairly spent in PREACHING JEWISH MASSACRE.

Tsaritsyn, Russia, Sept. 8.—Helldorus, "the mad monk of Tsaritsyn," today publicly declared that attacks upon Jews and the Russian intelligent classes would be commenced after the holding of the forthcoming congress of the black hundreds. The declaration of the parish priest, whose fantastic methods have startled the whole Volga region, has created an impression of semi-panic in this city. Talk of a probable massacre of Jews is current at the bazaars.

Following the passage of the resolution Chairman C. R. Lane, of the committee on membership, urged all present who were not members of the Commercial club to affiliate with the organization.

Another Boost for Sugar.
New York, Sept. 8.—The price of refined sugar was marked up another ten points today with granulated quoted at $6.60 per hundred owing to the continued and sensational strength of the raw sugar situation, higher foreign markets and unfavorable reports of crops. Indications in the local market were for still higher prices unless there was some change in the situation abroad.

Chinese Floods Subside.
Hankow, China, Sept. 8.—The floods resulting from the Yang Tze Kiang river overflowing its banks, which transformed hundreds of miles of the Yang Tze valley into an enormous lake and caused a great loss of life, are gradually subsiding. In addition to the heavy death list, many thousands of the natives have been made homeless and destitute.

S.S.S. REMOVES ALL HUMORS FROM THE BLOOD

The cause of all skin diseases can be traced to some humor in the blood, and therefore the cure of any skin trouble can come only through a thorough cleansing of this vital fluid. Salves, washes, lotions, etc., relieve some of the itching and discomfort, help to reduce inflammation, or aid in keeping the cuticle clean, but such treatment does not reach the blood, and of course can have no real curative effect. S.S.S. cures Skin Diseases of every kind because it purifies the blood. It is an internal remedy for an internal trouble, and works on the only reasonable and certain method of cure. S.S.S. removes all acids and humors from the circulation and leaves the blood stream: rich, healthy and nourishing in order that it may supply the cuticle with the necessary properties to restore it to its smooth, normal condition. THE SARDINE HAS A HISTORY.

The sardine has been honored with a history, the writer being no less a personage than a member of the Societe Academique of Nantes. The sardine in the early days was brought in in small boats. Then came a police ordinance in 1738 in the interest of the poorer classes against the monopolist. Owing to the police ordinance the sardine was a source of livelihood to the Bretons. Joseph Cillon, whose name is still revered in Nantes, first prepared the fish with oil. His venture was a great success and he had many imitators. In 1835 there was something like a crisis in the sardine industry. Millet, who was the chief curer, had his factory indicted as a nuisance, but the difficulty was overcome by removing it from the center of the town to the shore. Although the fame of the sardine was firmly established, it was only in 1855 that it received its apotheosis. Then it was shown in the Paris exhibition—London Globe.

WHERE A FUGITIVE WAS KEPT.

Room 17 in Boston's Old Courthouse Has a History.

Although the work of razing the old courthouse has been begun, one room in the building will remain intact for a while at least. This is No. 17, in which Anthony Burns, the fugitive slave, was hidden on the night that a mob of Boston Abolitionists, headed by the late Col. Thomas Wentworth Higginson, endeavored to secure possession of the negro to prevent his return to slavery, several years before the beginning of the civil war.

On the night that the mob attacked the building, following the supreme court decision that Burns must be returned to his owner, the fugitive slave was believed to be confined in a cell in the basement of the structure, but, as a matter of precaution, he had been secretly removed to room 17 on one of the upper floors, where he was kept hidden during the mob's attack on the building.

APPLES.

The St. Louis Times cheerfully offers a suggestion to the apple men of the country, who began a two days' conference in this city yesterday.

As eighteen states have been represented by about 100 delegates, a small, simple suggestion might reach a good many of the men who have developed the science of old "Applesauce John" until it is today one of the foremost industries of the world.

Here is the suggestion: Can not the apple growers frame some sort of a plan to bring the big public and the orchard a little closer together? Why is it that people who live in cities often have to pay more for apples, raised in near-by territory, than for oranges, raised a thousand miles away?

Do the men who raise profit by the extortion which is practiced upon the people of the city?

Is it necessary for the fruit grower, in so many cases, to sell his entire crop to agents representing syndicates of one kind or another, who proceed to cart the barrels of luscious fruit into cold storage, there to remain until the fine flavor is all gone—and the price is shamefully high?

If an honest effort were made to bring the finest fruit in the United States within reach of all the people of the country, by lessening the power of the middlemen, could not something truly worth while be done?

Will the apple men give a thought to this suggestion?—St. Louis Times.

TOO MUCH SUN IN ENGLAND.

Many Persons Have Been Alarmed by This Summer's Brightness.

(Boston Transcript.)

Imagine England suffering from too much sunshine! Yet such is the truth. An active dislike of the sun, amounting in many cases to a physical fear of going out of doors by day, is a curious result of the unusually fine summer in England noted by many physicians recently.

"This sun-fear," a physician said, "can nearly always be traced back to some occasion on which the patient has suffered from a mild heat stroke. The attack in several cases I have noted has been so slight that the patient has not realized what it really was.

"The usual story is that after a long day out of doors—on the river, or at tennis perhaps—the patient suddenly came to realize that instead of continuing to rejoice in the present wonderful summer he had commenced to long for the cold, damp days which in recent years have made up most of the July and August calendar.

"The mental condition which in many cases amounts to positive anger at a mere thought of the sun is, of course, analogous to the much more serious brain symptoms so commonly following after real sunstrokes. It should be taken as a very serious hint that all undue exposure to the sun should be avoided for the future. People who have once had a sunstroke in tropical countries often suffer severely afterwards from exposure to our much less intense English sun. In the same way those subject to sun fear are apt in the future to suffer severely from sun heat which would not affect ordinary individuals.

"Fatal sunstrokes are so rare in England that people are too apt to forget the dangers of suddenly exposing themselves for hours at a time to the sun. Italians have a proverb that only the dogs and the English walk in the sun. Holiday makers, particularly those who spend their working year indoors, should remember that the ability to withstand the sun's rays is largely a matter of habit, hence the danger of indoor people spending their holidays in indiscriminately 'enjoying' the sunshine. Visitors to the sea are more likely to suffer from the sun than those who spend their holidays inland, because they have to guard against the sun rays, which are reflected at an angle from the sea, as well as the ordinary direct rays."

VICTORY OVER NEWARK CLINCHES SECOND PLACE IN THE STRUGGLE

Grand Rush in Last Six Weeks Puts the Billikens Right on Top of the Pennant Winners.

Second place is assured for the Fort Wayne team even if it should lose all of the four remaining games.

Zanesville dropped one game yesterday to the South Bend club and this put Jack Pender and his hangers out of the running after they had made a game fight against long odds only to get up against a tough proposition at the finish.

Jack Pender and his wanderers came very near delaying the certain hold on second for a day as they fought a game battle and were not beaten until two men were down in the ninth inning.

Jack Onslow assumed the hero role in the game by hitting in just half of the runs that won the battle and in each instance he went to the plate with a couple of men gone and delivered his blows in the pinches.

His throwing during the game was excellent and he got the only three men who attempted to steal on him. Twice Jack Pender, who is leading the league in the matter of stolen bags, was cut down at second. Wickland, the fastest man on the Newark club, was the other victim.

Onslow would not have made his throwing record, however, if he had not had the valuable assistance of Carl Vandagriff. The second baseman dug all three of the throws out of the dirt and caught his men before they had a chance to slide.

This same Vandagriff person also kicked in with some timely aid in the course of the encounter. He hit for three bases and scored a run in the eighth and sent the winner over in the ninth. In addition he accepted ten fielding chances without a bobbie and taken all around he had a rather busy session.

Young started the rally in the ninth inning after he had made a bad break in the first that spoiled all chances for a run. He was passed, scored second and went to third on Clancy's infield hit. He thought the runner was out at first and started walking to the plate. Kilm snapped the ball to Parker and he shot it to Pender in time to catch the right holder before he could get back.

Jay Parker did some nice work for his team and of the five Billikens who attempted to steal second he got four. Young was lucky, as Parker dropped the ball when he went down in the first inning.

Kilm's play featured the game. He was passed twice and in his two legal at bats he scored two runs and made a couple of hits. During the argument Gray kicked on a strike and Clancy chased him in the eighth inning and Gilbert finished in right field.

Clancy had a bad day on balls and strikes and was in trouble with the players all through the game.

BOX SCORE PICKINGS

Jack Compton pitched two innings against the Cubs for Cincinnati. He was hit four times in one inning and allowed one run by winning two games. The Cubs moved up on the Giants and are within half a game of the top of the column.

Joe (Judy) got a pass and scored the winning run for the Brooklyn team when Snodgrass dropped Daubert's long fly in the ninth. Barker held the Cubs to four hits and the Cardinals were touched eight times.

Max Carey has been moved up to second place in the plate hitting list and the place he held some, as he picked off three hits in the game yesterday. McArthur got a sacrifice and scored one of the runs that won the Cardinals.

Jack Combs gave Boston ten hits. Pape was wild and by bawling him out, he has passed the champs. Henry and Street, Ford, Vaughn, Warburton and Blair, Umpires—Dineen and Perrine.

YEAR WITH WINNER HELPS PITCHER ED SMITH AFTER THE THIRD HOLE

RUDOLPH SUMMERS.

Three years that Rudolph Summers spent with the Terre Haute team gave him a chance to advance in baseball, and probably if he had finished the season with the Tots he would have been overlooked in the draft. He has shown improved play with Dayton, but the fact that he was with a winning club did more than anything else to attract the attention of the majors and he will probably land a berth.

Ed Smith and His Team Play Here Tomorrow and Day After.

MAKING HARD FIGHT

Ed Smith and his Stags will be here for the final series of the season, which will open tomorrow afternoon at League park and close on Sunday with a double-header.

Although Fort Wayne is placed in the race the Grand Rapids club still will have a chance for third place and the men have been hustling for the honor for several weeks and have been playing some mighty good ball to get.

The Stags manager is a bit sore on Fort Wayne. When he and his men got back to Grand Rapids recently after a very successful road trip they beat Dayton two out of three games and this gave them hope of landing second. Then Manager Casey and his crowd came along and knocked his aspirations into a cocked hat by taking three straight.

He wants revenge for this indignity and he will put his best men in the box to get it. Fort Wayne will try to repeat and this insures a pretty stiff argument as Smith has a good ball club.

Owner Claude H. Varnell will be in for the finish and expects to remain a day or two to settle up his business affairs. He has ordered the players to report Sunday for the annual group picture and he will be included in the crowd.

Players are making their plans to leave the city and a number of them still will get out Sunday night after the final game has been played. There will be no barnstorming as the men have had a hard season on account of the excessive heat and they are all ready to quit.

INTERESTING BITS OF SPORT CHATTER

Bush, of the Tigers, and Milan and McBride, of Washington, have each pitched in 122 games this season, the American league record.

Clarke Griffith is said to be preparing a magazine article in which he blames his failure at Cincinnati onto Redland sport critics.

Pitcher Parker of the New Britain team holds the record of pitching the only no-hit-no-run game in the Connecticut league this season.

Snodgrass of the Giants, who has made a large number of doubles and triples this season, has yet to make his first home run.

The street railway company at South Bend has staged an aviation meet for Sunday at Springbrook park and it is possible that the final games of the season will not be played.

Ben Patterson, big pitcher bought from Terre Haute by Cincinnati Reds, will finish his course in the Michigan "Aggie" institute, and will not report until July, next season.

Although three other National league pitchers have won more games than "Marquis de Richelieu" Marquard, the Giant illager heads the percentage column.

Marty O'Toole, the Pirate $22,500 twirler, has an offer from a vaudeville theater manager for the coming winter. Marty's friends think he will accept and open his act with "None of Them Has Anything on Me."

John Henry Meyers is pitching for the Muskegon club, of the Michigan State league and is winning his games. It is the first time since he started in the Central league seven years ago that he has been compelled to play class D ball.

Outfielder "Jimmy" Johnston of Birmingham, who was hit on the head by "Rube" Benton, has recovered his hearing and speech and is expected to be in shape for a tryout with the Sox next spring.

The best "walters" at the plate in baseball today are Sheppard of the Cubs, Huggins of St. Louis, Devore of the Giants, Daniels and Hemphill of the Yankees. Kabbe of the Quakers, Hooper of the Boston Red Sox and Cobb of Detroit.

Few fans know that John Gansel, former manager of the Reds, was instrumental some years back in putting the Hawaiian islands on the baseball map. It is now being related how Gansel helped organize the team that gave the natives their first baseball. John was about 17 months younger when he went to the islands. He did not go to play alone, but to work with his brother, Ed, who was a carpenter.

With a run needed to tie, Young opened the ninth inning of the Thursday clash with Newark with a rap to right field and Bill Clancy advanced him with a bunt. Vardner popped to center field, McArthur shot one through the pitcher's box on which Young scored. He took second on the throw to the plate and scored the winning run on Vandagriff's bingle to left.

Although Bill Riley was hit hard he kept the hits scattered most of the time and while he was doing this his pals were after Pender all the time and took a lead in the second inning, which they kept up until the ninth.

The first run was scored by Kilm in the second when he hit for two bases with one man down and scored on Clyde Parker's hit. Craven got one in the third on a base on balls, an out and Pender's drive to center.

Fort Wayne's first count was made in the fifth on Vandagriff's double and Onslow's hit. Onslow also drove in the second run for Fort Wayne after Vandagriff had hit for three bases in the eighth. Jay Parker hit for two bases in the Newark seventh and sent in Kilm, who had been passed.

CROSBY CASE TO CIRCUIT COURT

Assailant in Carnival Assault Case Under a Bond Bond of $1,000.

CITY COURT DOCKET

Roy Crosby, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill Frank Longbottom as the result of a clash at the carnival grounds on North Clinton street on the night of August 26, when he hurled a stone that came near crushing Longbottom's skull, was held under bond of $1,000 for trial in the circuit court when his case came up in the city court today.

Longbottom, his head heavily bandaged and still suffering from the effects of his injury, came down from Hope hospital long enough to testify, and but one other witness was called in the preliminary. Crosby entered a plea of not guilty and was represented by Attorney Frank Emrick, while Assistant Prosecutor Hilgeman appeared for the state. Testimony indicated that after somebody had hit him Crosby hurled a murderous looking stone at Longbottom, who was getting into the altercation as a peace-maker. For some time it was feared the man was fatally hurt.

It is expected the case will come to an early trial in the circuit court.

Hill Files a Suit.

Servatus C. Hill, one of the men attacked by the Bowser salesman on last Saturday while he was advertising the Debs meeting, has filed a suit in the circuit court to recover $10,000. The allegations are practically the same as contained in the suit filed a few days ago by Maxwell.

The action is directed against S. F. and H. M. Bowser, S. B. Dechtel and Jacob Gumpfer. He says he was roughly handled and greatly humiliated and that his trousers and an automobile in which he was riding were both badly damaged. Emrick filed the suit.

Must Not Sell Chili.

Believing that women of ill-repute have been attracted to the Polson saloon by the fact that a chili parlor was operated in connection with it, the county commissioners in granting him a renewal yesterday of his license stipulated that he must stop off that department of his business. He agreed to do this.

COST OF DUELS.

The cost of duels is dwelt upon by Aurelien Scholl in his "Reminiscences." He tells of the elaborate preparations made for a hostile encounter between two journalists whom he knew. One of them borrowed $100 from Scholl to meet his share of the expenses. This sum was never returned. "After ten minutes' portentous fencing," he adds, "the principals embraced each other, and both left the ground without a scratch. I was the only man hit."—Washington Evening Star.

The Region of Mt. McKinley

First Exploration by United States Geological Survey Party in 1902, Described by Alfred H. Brooks.

The great crescentic sweep of Alaska's southern coast line is broken at its most northerly point by Cook Inlet, named after the famous explorer of the eighteenth century, an embayment which penetrates the mainland for nearly 200 miles. The drainage basin tributary to Cook Inlet is cut off from the Yukon and the Kuskokwim waters on the north and west by a chain of rugged mountains known as the Alaska range, at the heart of which towers majestic Mount McKinley, the highest peak of North America, and its sister peak, Mount Foraker. Previous to 1902 this region constituted a great block of unknown territory. When in 1902 the United States Geological Survey began its task of exploring, surveying and studying the mineral resources of Alaska, the first work was of necessity merely exploratory, for until the larger features of drainage and relief had been outlined it was impossible to plan topographic and geologic surveys. The demand of the prospector was for maps and information to guide him in his journeys. From 1902 to 1907, therefore, the Alaskan work of the geological survey was largely a series of reconnaissance, covering wide areas and outlining the larger physiographic features—a skeleton to be gradually filled in by detailed mapping. But the Mount McKinley region remained untouched. Plans for its survey had been considered as early as 1899, but it was not possible to put them into effect until 1902.

Into an Unknown Wilderness. "The Mount McKinley Region of Alaska," by Alfred H. Brooks, just issued by the geological survey as Professional Paper 70, describes this work of early exploration of a vast tract of territory absolutely unknown and incomparably wild. The report is a large volume describing the geologic, geographic and mineral resources of the region, but Mr. Brooks' brief description of the trip itself is a tale of real adventure. In 108 days the party, consisting of seven men, penetrated 800 miles of an unknown wilderness with almost impassable swamps, untold rivers, and lofty snow-covered mountains. These men depended largely on their guns for provender, but finally accomplished their purpose of striking through the Alaska range and coming out into the interior Yukon valley, a feat which was looked upon by the natives as impossible. Starting from Tyonek on Cook Inlet on June 2, the party struck inland.

"Although the Indians and traders agreed," says Mr. Brooks, "that with good luck we might be able to get across the Alaska range, no one believed it possible that we could extend our work to the Tanana, much less to the Yukon. It was the general expectation that the party would return to Cook Inlet in the fall. This might have discouraged us had we not known that few of the longer explorations of the geological survey in Alaska had been regarded as practicable by traders who were most familiar with the locality."

Mr. Brooks describes a series of marches, with topographic and geologic work en route, weary days of trail chopping through dense thickets, and experiences with swollen rivers which taxed the ingenuity and hardihood of the members of the party to the utmost to get themselves and their pack animals across. Moose, wild sheep and other game occasionally fell to the rifles of the men and served as most welcome changes in diet. At the base of the Great Mountain, namely Mount McKinley and Mount Foraker, which in clear weather had been visible for most of the time, loomed large and majestic and on August 4 camp was made only fourteen miles in an air line from the summit of Mount McKinley. "Here," says Mr. Brooks, "a day's delay permitted the writer to climb a spur of the mountain to snow line and to obtain some clue to its geologic structure; but satisfaction at standing on its slope nine miles from the summit, which had never before been approached by white men, could not but be tinged with regret that there was neither time nor means for reaching a higher altitude."

The position of Mount McKinley was accurately determined, as also its altitude, 20,300 feet. Mount Foraker, some fifteen miles to the south of Mount McKinley, was also located, and its altitude of 17,000 feet determined. These observations were made from a number of other peaks varying in height from 8,000 to 11,000 feet. The actual surveys of the trip covered about 6,000 square miles, but the information obtained and the correlation established between previous surveys threw additional light on the geography and topography of about 20,000 square miles. A large amount of geologic work was also accomplished, which is described by Mr. Brooks and Mr. Prindle, of the party, in the report.

First Human Beings Seen for Months. As they pressed inland from Mount McKinley, Mr. Brooks states, August 24 was marked by an encounter with a white man and a band of Indians, "the first human being we had seen in nearly three months," and a few days later the party emerged from the forest on the bank of the Tanana at the small native settlement of Toretta, or Nenana. "To the natives the arrival of white men from the mountains seemed little short of miraculous." The great hazards of the trip had now been overcome, yet the record states that in covering an ensuing thirty miles the difficulties of travel occupied the energies of the entire party for eight days, as streams had to be bridged, forded and rafted, and even corduroy trails built. Within six days five different bridges were constructed and six rivers were rafted. On the 15th of September the party reached Rampart and the next morning boarded a river steamer bound for St. Michael.

DE KALB COUNTY TAX LEVY FIXED

Appropriations Made for Court House and Heating Plant.

AUBURN MINOR NEWS

Auburn, Ind., Sept. 8.—The county council at its session yesterday, in addition to appropriating a large sum of money necessary to run the county for the coming year, passed two special appropriations. One calling for $175,000 to be applied on the construction of the new court house, while another for $20,000 will be expended toward the purchase of a site and the erection of a heating plant for the new temple of justice. The county commissioners have had an option on two lots across the street from the court house, for $10,000, and the site will be purchased for the sum of $8,000, while $22,000 is to be used in the erection and equipping of the plant. The total sum appropriated by the county council, which includes the salaries of the county officers for the coming year, the sums above stated, and for all other expense, which the county is liable to incur, will amount to nearly $250,000. The council also voted to not increase the tax levy for the coming year, but made a slight reduction in the county fund, the sum taken from this fund to be added to the bond fund. The levy for the county fund will be 32.65 cents, while the levy for the bond fund will be 12 cents.

Feeling that the county should have a competent man to oversee the work of the new court house, and to look after the interests of the citizens during the construction, the county council yesterday afternoon voted unanimously on a resolution asking the commissioners to appoint such a man.

FROM FIELD OF WAR TO LOCOMOTIVE CAB

EVERETTE O. MILLER.

Everette O. Miller took employment as a fireman with the Pennsylvania company in November, 1899. He had just been honorably discharged from Company M, 157th regiment, Indiana volunteers, with which he served during the entire Spanish-American war. He was soon transferred to the passenger service and January 1, 1907, being marked for promotion, he entered the shops for the six months' student's course then required of firemen who are to be advanced to engineers. He became a freight engineer in July, 1907, and has been thus employed since.

are among the best equipped plants of their class in the country and can turn out round, square and iron products as cheaply as any.

HALL DECORATIONS COMPLETE.

B. L. E. Committee Ready for Doings Tomorrow.

The committee on hall decorations for the quarterly meeting of the Pennsylvania engineers, lines west of Pittsburgh, which begins tomorrow evening, have completed their work and the handsome quarters are much more attractive than before. No word concerning the coming of one of the grand officers has been received since Monday and the situation in that respect remains unchanged. Grand Chief Stone wrote that he would come or send another official and his silence is taken to mean that he will be here. The committee publishes a card elsewhere in The Sentinel inviting all B. L. E. men and their wives to the meetings, including the Saturday evening banquet, and the invitation has been especially extended to the members of Nickel Plate division, No. 537.

FREIGHT CLERK CHANGES.

With the opening of the Masonic Temple vaudeville, D. Dachtman resumes his former position as chief expense clerk at the Nickel Plate freight office for that purpose. He is succeeded at the freight house by Edward Erwin, the night bill clerk, who is succeeded by R. Bowman, the over ad short clerk, who in turn has been succeeded by Frank Kohler. The latter has been succeeded as assistant night baggage man by J. C. Miller.

SUPT. SULLIVAN TALKS TO EMPLOYEES.

J. C. Sullivan, superintendent of the Wabash, addressed a gathering of men in the operating department at the Y. M. C. A. rooms in Peru last night, his subject being economy in all things cation. He will be at the lake about a week.

AIR BRAKE CAR IN SHOPS.

The Pennsylvania air brake instruction has gone into the east car shops for renovation, light repairs and repainting. In the meantime Capt. H. M. Diehl, the air brake instructor, will attend to some special work for the company.

WORKING FULL TIME.

The factory of the VanArman Manufacturing company, out on Taylor street, is busy, being in operation ten hours per day with a full force of workmen.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Dr. J. Sion Smith and his wife have gone to the lakes for a week's stay.

James Carman, of the vesting room at the Electric works, is sick and off duty.

William Cass, of the Bass blacksmith shop, is off duty on account of sickness.

W. H. Korte, a carpenter at the Pennsylvania shops, is visiting in Pittsburg.

C. A. Bahlinger, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, has gone to Sturgis, Mich., for a short visit.

G. W. Grodian, a Pennsylvania fireman, is off duty on account of the serious illness of his wife.

E. L. Yehl, a brass moulder at the Pennsylvania shops, is on duty after a week's visit out of the city.

A. M. Slagle, Pennsylvania passenger engineer, has recovered from an illness which kept him from work a week.

Charles Holman, Henry Fox and Val Berger, Pennsylvania carpenters, are repairing the coal docks at Dola, O., for the company.

Dennis J. Keane, formerly of the American Steel Bridge works, took employment as a blacksmith's helper at the Pennsylvania shops this morning.

S. D. Hanna is in Chicago today on business for Hanna-Brackendridge & Company. J. E. Elliott, sales manager of the firm, is in Buffalo on business.

General Foreman H. T. Hogan, of the Pennsylvania machine shop, goes to Bedford, Ind., tomorrow to spend a

TO TAKE WESTERN TRIP.

Engineer W. H. Harper and Engineer A. J. Kohler and the latter's son will leave tomorrow evening, over the Wabash, for Portland and Ashland, Ore., where they expect to remain about two weeks. En route home they will stop off a day or two each at Salt Lake City and Pike's Peak.

FINGER BADLY LACERATED.

While operating a machine in the Fort Wayne Electric works yesterday Ray Lorenz got one of the fingers badly lacerated when it was caught in some of the gearing. The company's surgeon believes the digit will be saved, though the injured man will not be able to work for some time.

GONE TO THE LAKES.

Chief Clerk W. F. Melching, of Factory Supt. E. A. Barnes' office, at the Fort Wayne Electric works, has gone to Lake George with his family to spend the latter half of his annual va-week with his daughter, Mrs. Gustav Steiglitz.

W. S. Spicer, a Pennsylvania fireman, is on duty again, having recovered from an injury to his head, caused by a chunk of coal falling upon him while in Chicago.

H. E. Loneragan, painter at the Pennsylvania paint shop, and his wife were called to Logansport last night by news of the serious illness of her grandmother, who is quite aged.

Ray Carey, who is in the Peru hospital with appendicitis, is the first of the members of the Wabash Relief Union to get benefits from the association. He was one of the charter members.

Wabash Switchman F. J. Conroy has obtained a ten days' leave of absence for a visit out of the city. Switchman Philip Belza, who had been east on a vacation trip, reported for work this morning.

W. N. Hosterman, motor inspector at the Pennsylvania shops, and his wife left last night for the east. They will be gone two weeks and will visit his brothers and sisters in Coburn, Pa., and in New York.

Adolph Hofer, who begins the third term of his course at Purdue university Monday, will go to Indianapolis tonight to spend Sunday with relatives. He resigned his position with the Pennsylvania shops today.

From some unknown cause one of the feet of G. H. Korn is swollen to twice its normal size and is very painful. He is using a crutch to get about the streets. Mr. Korn is employed in the Pennsylvania shoe shops.

Gang Foreman M. H. Hobrock, of the Pennsylvania erecting shop, will go to Decatur tomorrow to remain over Sunday with relatives. Mrs. Hobrock and the children went there yesterday and will remain a week.

Henry Doell, account clerk at the Pennsylvania offices, enters upon a ten days' vacation tomorrow. He will spend the greater portion of it with relatives on a farm some miles down the Wabash river from Logansport. He will do a little fishing.

The absence from the city of A. B. Morrison has delayed the final contests for the pennant in the tennis tournament of employees of the Fort Wayne Electric works. The fight has settled down to three men, A. L. Hadley, A. B. Morrison and Philip M. Balthis.

Foreman T. A. G. Syonebrook, of the Pennsylvania paint shop, is in receipt of a letter from W. Wiebke and Fred Kramer, two of his painters, who are touring the south. The letter bears date of San Antonio, Texas, and stated that the writers were having the "time of their lives."

Machinist George R. Rupley, of the Pennsylvania, will resume his duties in the shops some time this month. He was operated upon for double hernia four or five months ago and has not been able to resume work since, though he has been out for some time. He owns a number of cottages and boats at Rome City and has been giving them some attention.

Freight business on the Nickel Plate which has continued favorably during the summer months is now increasing slowly with prospects for a heavy rush within the next couple of weeks, at which time the grape harvest will be in full blast. Several garages will be placed in service as soon as the business warrants such procedure and already it is reported that the road is storing refrigerator cars in anticipation of one of the heaviest crops ever hauled.

The acetylene welding apparatus recently added to the equipment of the Hanna-Brackendridge company's plant, on Taylor street, promises to become an important feature of the business of that institution. It is especially valuable in repair work on automobiles and other high grade machinery and since its installation autoists have been the chief customers. There is a similar plant at the Bowser works, but it is expressly for use in repairing oil tanks and oil tank machinery and does not custom work.

A STATE RAISES WILD TURKEYS.

Nearly 800 wild turkeys were raised at the state game farm this season, and these birds will be turned at liberty in certain localities as soon as they are able to care for themselves.

The commission will try to educate the public on the idea of giving these birds a chance to multiply. The birds raised in captivity have no fear of men, and as a result are easy prey to hunters.

The game and fish commission also proposes to furnish a pair or more of pheasants to any one desiring them to raise in captivity, they agreeing to return a like number to the commission from the first hatching. By this means it is hoped to get these birds scattered throughout the state.—San Francisco Chronicle.

BOSTON GIVES HARRY N. ATWOOD, AVIATOR, A ROUSING RECEPTION

EVERETT JANSEN, WENDELL, PRESENTING TO MR. ATWOOD, CLIFFORD B. HARMON'S GIFT

The accompanying photographs depict the remarkable demonstration rendered to Harry N. Atwood, the most famous aviator in the country, upon his arrival at the Boston aviation grounds. Atwood's reception was billed for half-past three o'clock, but it was an hour later before he arrived. He came unaccompanied by "the flock of aeroplanes" which it was announced would fly over the hills to meet him, but he received a greeting from the three or four thousand persons in the grand stand and in the field that demonstrated that he was among friends who are proud of his achievements in the air. When he swooped down from the clouds he passed by an automobile in which were his mother and father and waved his hand to them.

He alighted in the centre of the field amid the cheers of the crowd, the bursting of bombs and the playing of "See the Conquering Hero Come" by the band. A silver cup was given him by newspaper men with whom he made his first cross country flight in New England, and a Goddess of Liberty statue by Everett Jansen Wendell, acting for Clifford B. Harmon.

Blushing like a schoolboy, Mr. Atwood spoke a few words of acknowledgment and appreciation and then he James C. Barr and Frank Lord and was lifted to the shoulders of Mr. Wendell, J. Howard Edwards, Captain Lord and

TAKING A SANE VACATION.

A Writer Pints Out the Advantages of Resting at Home.

(Chicago Tribune.) Every year for a good many I have been puzzled about vacations. No matter what the length of my prospective absence, the disposition of the other half of the family or the condition of the treasury department (that being uniformly doubtful), I temporize, shift, feint, duck and cross, and counter when it comes to deciding the vacation match. My neighbors usually announce some weeks in advance that they are going to the Adirondacks, Hudson bay or Europe and slip away for two weeks in the country. I am neither so facile nor so ingenious as my neighbors.

This year I have considered the problem from many sides (it is a geometrical subject) and have come to the conclusion that staying at home will be the result. Since arriving at this noteworthy decision and confiding it to some close acquaintances I have learned with some surprise that the number who long since adopted my scheme is considerable. I have been able to learn, through a bit of inquisitorial practice, these facts:

Advantages of a Home Vacation.

The advantages of the summer vacation at home are:

A saving in railway and other fares of one-half the usual sum spent for these summer rests.

From two to five days' additional rest period.

A considerable extra sum for spending.

The comforts of home.

Clean beds and bedding.

Sufficient screening.

Digestible cooking.

The proximity of more means of diversion.

The absence of the noisome summer pretender.

The escape from summer resort "life."

Practically all the usual summer resort pleasures without most of their inconveniences.

Escape from undesirable acquaintances.

The security of being near enough to business to resume it if occasion should arise.

As to the other side of the problem, I have discovered the following advantages:

No change of scene.

No change of food or fellows.

No new and interesting people.

No experiences, real and apocryphal, for heart-fright entertainment.

No material with which to edify neighbors and friends.

A Contrast Helps Some.

Aside from these considerations of advantages and disadvantages, I was able to learn that of all the vacations annually given and taken in the larger cities not many more than one-half entail trips out of town in the sense of spending vacations away from home. This was formerly not the fact. In years gone by no vacation was considered complete without an extensive voyage to some distant place where other persons made the visit dull by being all uniformly engaged in the similar pursuit of spending time off abroad. The spirit of all these places is so monotonously the same, so everlastingly pseudo-festive, that the true purpose of vacation is negative before conception.

On the other hand, in the city, where there are all about you the myriad workers, each bent on his fixed hours and tasks, the vacation is a period of contrasts. You roll through the weeks in the very core of the activity with which you are ordinarily associated. You rub elbows--and crook them--with the men at whose sides you are generally struggling. You watch them froth with a sense of removal, of being set apart and disinterested. You become, in a day or two, acclimated to the role of observer, and in this guise you make pilgrimages and visit shrines at your very door which in other periods would have remained always closed and foreign.

What the Country Offers.

So much for the philosophy or reason (if these two be distinguishable) of vacations. Perhaps, however, the prime consideration will be found in the methods of spending the leisure period in the city as compared to those extant at the usual summer resorts. For this purpose I submit these summaries:

City Amusements.--The street, the crowds, the cafes, roof gardens, theaters, summer gardens, amusement parks, beaches, the usual features provided by merchants' associations and others to counteract the summer exodus, fishing at no great distance, hunting at but little more, athletics of all kinds under model surroundings, boating, sailing, excursion boats, luncheons, various athletic shows, aquatic sports, baseball, golf tennis and a hundred other forms of diversion too generally practiced to be specifically mentioned.

Summer Resort Pleasures.--The ordinary summer resort offers the negative pleasure of country air. Aside from this it has little to offer. Usually the fishing is little better than that to be found within easy reach of the cities. Camping out can be duplicated in the sleeping porch. Boating, bathing, water sports, etc., are provided at home. As a matter of quiet analysis the usual summer resort has the following advantages to offer: Climatic conditions; better air and work in the open; change of scene.

THE MONA LISA SMILE.

For my part I am rather glad the "Mona Lisa" has disappeared. I have studied that picture in the Louvre many times. I am sick and tired of references to the "saintly smile" upon the face of "La Gioconda," wife of a Florentine nobleman, who sat as model for the portrait. There is nothing saintly about that smile! It is the glare of an adventuress, the grin of a wanton.

Perhaps it did not truthfully represent the woman's character, which may have been white as snow, but the portrait was painted for Francis I, whose palace at Fontainebleau is to this day so tainted with his presence that no Frenchman will touch with an ungloved hand a bit of furniture known to have been occupied by that monarch. In the wonderful autobiography of Benvenuto Cellini, the immortal sculptor tells that he refused to kiss the hand of his patron, Francis I. Leonardo da Vinci only received about $2,000 for four years' work on that portrait, and the woman's smile probably represents the artist's chagrin at serving such a "patron of the arts."--Brooklyn Eagle.

KILLING BACTERIA.

The most recent method of sterilizing a water supply does away with all use of chemicals, and kills the bacteria merely by exposure to light. Not to ordinary light, of course, but to ultra violet light--light whose waves are too short to be seen. The process has not yet come into practical use, but has been satisfactory in experiments carried out on a large scale, and seems likely to be used extensively in the future.

It is merely necessary for the water to flow in a thin sheet beneath the source of ultra violet light used. One minute's exposure is usually sufficient to kill all bacteria present.

As a source of the light required, mercury vapor lamps similar to the ghastly green ones found in photographic studios may be used. In this case, however, the tube of the lamp must be of pure quartz, for ordinary glass will not let the very short light waves pass through. It is as opaque to them as a piece of wood is to visible light. Instead of a mercury vapor lamp it has been found possible to use an arc light in which the "carbons" are made of equal parts of carbon and aluminum.

With moderately cheap electricity, experts say that the cost of this method of treating water should compare very favorably with that of other methods of disinfection now in use.

WANTED--Boys at Perfection Biscuit Co.

NO WORDS WASTED.

Restaurant and lunch room waiters have a language all their own. The other day a man stepped up to the counter in a "one arm" lunch room and asked for a piece of blackberry pie. The waiter examined the stack of tin roof pies on a shelf.

"Ain't got no blackberry," he told the customer.

"Got any kind of berry pie?"

"Yes."

"What kind?"

"Ras and huck," the waiter yelled, and the man took a piece of peach-

MUCH MUSIC AT THE GREAT FAIR

Bands Galore to Enliven the Proceedings All Next Week.

RACE ENTRIES CLOSE

Band concerts every afternoon at the Fort Wayne fair next week will open the program and fill in the moments between races and free events. The Electro-Technic band has been engaged for Thursday, the big day, and Galt Shover, its director, has arranged to supply twenty-eight musicians. The Packard band will play on Wednesday and Friday afternoons and the Citizens' band on Thursday and Saturday.

The night fair will not be without music. The Hatch water circus, the largest of the tented attractions that will have space on the "Pike," carries a band of sixteen pieces, and the advance man of the show, who arrived here yesterday, promises a concert each night.

Secretary Strieder returned home last evening from Indianapolis, where he obtained the final entries in the speed events. The entries in the harness races closed today with the largest list of horses ever booked for a Fort Wayne fair. Entries in the running races do not close until the day preceding the race. Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock being the dead line for running horses for the derby the following day.

So that they may see the four great Savage pacers, the harnessmen of the city have decided to close their shops next Friday and the owners and workmen will enjoy a holiday at the fair grounds.

Judging of stock and exhibits will start at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning and will continue until completed. The premiums will be given out by the secretary at the park office of the association at 9 o'clock on the last day of the fair. The sale of corn and other exhibits at the horticultural building will also be held Saturday morning.

As usually treated, a sprained ankle will disable a man for three or four weeks, but by applying Chamberlain's Liniment freely as soon as the injury is received, and observing the directions with each bottle, a cure can be effected in from two to four days. For sale by all dealers.

ARRESTS AT STATE FAIR.

Four Men Nabbed for Betting on the Horse Races.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 8.—Four men were arrested yesterday at the state fair grounds charged with betting on the races. William O'Dell and John Van Alstyne were fined $5 and costs by Justice of the Peace Howe, who is holding court at the fair grounds. Frank M. Bateman, of Lebanon, and Charles O. Foster, of Lebanon, obtained continuances of their trials until Monday. The arrests caused a small panic among the bookmakers and their patrons and visibly reduced the betting fever.

B. Russell Shaw, fell fifteen feet in his aeroplane while starting a flight over the track and the crowd in the grand stand gasped in fear, but he stepped from the machine unhurt. Later he encircled the track three times. After his flight twenty thousand persons made a rush for street cars returning to the city and several women were painfully bruised before the police could control the crowd. More than 50,000 persons passed through the gates yesterday and the attendance for the week is expected to break all records.

For bowel complaints in children always give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and castor oil. It is certain to effect a cure and when reduced with water and sweetened is pleasant to take. No physician can prescribe a better remedy. For sale by all dealers.

FOR SICK HEADACHE, SOUR STOMACH, LAZY LIVER OR SLUGGISH BOWELS.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight and keep them out with Cascarets.

Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach.

Don't put in another day of distress. Let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the sour, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry off the decomposed waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

AT THE MAJESTIC

World Renowned Magician Saturday, Matinee and Night.

The grandest and most spectacular show of magic ever seen in this city will appear next Saturday, Sept. 9th, for matinee and night performances.

Fredrik, the Great, for the last seven years has been traveling through all the foreign countries of the world and has accumulated many new and novel tricks and illusions which will be shown here for the first time, some of which are on the sensational and thrilling order and have drawn favorable comment wherever shown. The production is without doubt the most elaborate that has ever been seen in this city, for the new illusions alone have been secured at a cost exceeding $50,000. The matinee Saturday afternoon will be especially for ladies and children, the program being arranged on purpose for the delight of the little ones.

GEO. SIDNEY COMING.

"Busy Izzy" Next Week for Two Nights and Two Matinees.

George Sidney, the funny little comedian, will be seen this season in the funniest of all musical comedies. "Busy Izzy" is the titular handle by which the public may know that Sidney will hold forth at the Majestic theater next Tuesday and Wednesday, and he will have with him a company of forty comedians and prettiest girls to make an evening's fun.

Izzy will first be seen running a large city department store and one can readily discern the possibilities for fun, the chance to show the charms of pretty girls in such a scene. After the store has been run to a standstill, "Izzy" will trade it off for a summer hotel, and his erstwhile young lady clerks and the Johnnies they attract will fit to the seashore, where "Izzy" will get the change and the audience will continue to laugh at his peculiar methods. Of course, there will be many specialties, musical numbers, dancing treats and much that is pleasing to look upon, and with all there will be the laughter which always goes with "Izzy."

SCHOOL TOPICS TO BE DISCUSSED

County Board of Education

Meets With Superintendent Saturday.

SCHOOLS IN TOWNS

The county board of education, which consists of all the township trustees of the county, will hold a meeting tomorrow afternoon in the rooms of the county superintendent of schools at the courthouse for the purpose of discussing matters in reference to the district schools, all of which will have begun the new school year within the next two weeks. The session will be presided over by County Superintendent of Schools Henry G. Felger. Following the business session several special themes will be presented by members of the board, the program being as follows:

How Can the Trustee Be of the Best Service to the School Under His Jurisdiction—Opened by A. J. Shaffer, the trustee of Madison township.

The New School Laws—Opened by Edgar Myers, the trustee of Washington township.

The Township Institute—Opened by H. B. Roller, the trustee of Scioto township.

A general discussion on the part of the members of the board will follow the presentation of each of these subjects and the meeting will be one of interest and profit.

During the forenoon all the newly employed teachers of the county will meet with Superintendent Felger at his office, the purpose being the consideration of the duties upon which they will enter as teachers in the county schools.

Some of the Town Schools.

About two-thirds of the schools will begin their new year on Monday next and the others will begin on Monday, September 18. The county superintendent has an especially good corps of teachers this year. Most of them are experienced in the work, many former teachers in this county for years. The year promises to be a prosperous one for the schools.

At Shirley City, which will have a certified high school, the superintendent will be Charles I. Witteman and the teacher of the grammar school will be Glen Henderson, with Albert Springer as teacher of the primary grades.

Nathan W. Coll, who so efficiently performed the duties last year, is the superintendent for the coming year of the schools at Monroeville. The principal is Mary Funchanin and the other teachers are Estella Schurton, Jessie Harvey, Elsie Jones and Ruth Marshall.

The New Haven schools have as superintendent H. B. Smith, an experienced teacher and with marked executive ability. Irma Shordan is principal and Raymond B. Woolover teacher of music and also of the eighth grade. The other teachers are Clara J. Sheridan, Jennie M. Allen and Maud D. L. Cape.

The schools of these three townships will begin next Monday morning.

DUAL VIEWS OF WOMEN.

Hetty Green's Son and a Minister Hold Opinions of Their Own.

(New York American.)

Appropos of the marriage he announces "within a year," here is what Col. E. H. R. Green has to say of women:

"New York women are clotheslines. They are fashion and money mad. They marry for a home to live out of; they marry a man to be away from him."

"Children are the last thing they want. If they can have beautiful clothes and look fashionable, if they can ride in automobiles and own yachts, they are smug in domestic accomplishments."

"They want to 'peacock' it about in fashionable restaurants and theaters where they will be seen and envied by other women."

And here is what the Rev. George Chalmers Richmond, protestor against the Astor marriage, says:

"The women in our smart set are fast deteriorating morally and spiritually. They spend more time before the mirror than at prayer. They think more of big hats than of their husbands; more of fast autos than of their babies; and more of 'bully' company than home nature. They are foolish, flippant, morally careless and without conscience. They love 'feels,' fun, frolic and fast life. Their motto is 'Tickle me and I'll tickle you.'"

Alt Heidelberg, for breakfast, lunch, dinner and after 8-3t.

THE INDIVIDUAL BEER GLASS.

"A glass of beer, bartender, and here's my own glass. None of those others for mine!"

With these words a well known ex-saloonkeeper ordered a drink, and at the same time drew a medium size shell glass from his coat pocket. The bartender's surprise was so great he nearly dropped to the floor, and the customers gaped with wide open mouths, while the hangers-on fell back against the wall.

"Fill 'er up again, bartender!" said the antisepic man.

Just before starting to do as commanded, the bartender made for the waiter rough to rinse the glass.

"No you don't, bartender; hold on here! That glass is not to be rinsed," the "anti" further spoke.

Well, this was almost the limit, but the bartender checked the hand that was making for the water trough, and guffied it to the beer spigot. He filled it up and set it on the bar, after which he hurried away, forgetting to get his money. He was too confused.

This man has been carrying his own glass for two years now, and when one breaks or gets smashed in his pocket he buys another.—Baltimore Sun.

School Teacher Conceives Plan of Celebration for Oklahoma City.

Although Mrs. Fred Sutton doesn't happen to be the wife of the governor, she is nevertheless known as "the first lady of Oklahoma," at any rate to the Oklahomans themselves. She acquired her title not by marriage, but by other kinds of personal achievement.

It was she, says a writer in Human Life, who organized the women plone of Oklahoma into "The Women of Eighty-Nine," who are to that state what the Daughters of the Golden West are to California and the F. F. V. to Virginia. Mrs. Sutton is its founder and president.

She conceived and with the help of the women of Oklahoma City carried into execution the plan of the April 15th Fiesta, that spring function in Oklahoma City which corresponds to the Mardi Gras carnival of New Orleans, and the Velled Prophets of St. Louis, and the Priests of Pallas of Kansas City.

It was she who suggested a monument, which is building, to the memory of Capt. W. S. Couch, who was the first mayor of Oklahoma City and who in the pre-state days spent all his substance and nearly his life in the interests of statehood, for he lived at Washington on two cents a day while working for the admittance to the sisterhood of states of the then territory.

Mrs. Sutton may be described as the foremost woman in Oklahoma. Yet twenty-two years ago she was a school marm indigenous to Kansas, who made a run with the other settlers to take a claim on the newly opened land. At the same time Fred Sutton, a young man from Michigan, made the hardest run in the great category of mad dashes for homesteads. He killed his horse on a thirteen-mile dash to a claim near Guthrie, but the claim marked the turn of his fortunes, from the shallows of poverty to the full stream of affluence.

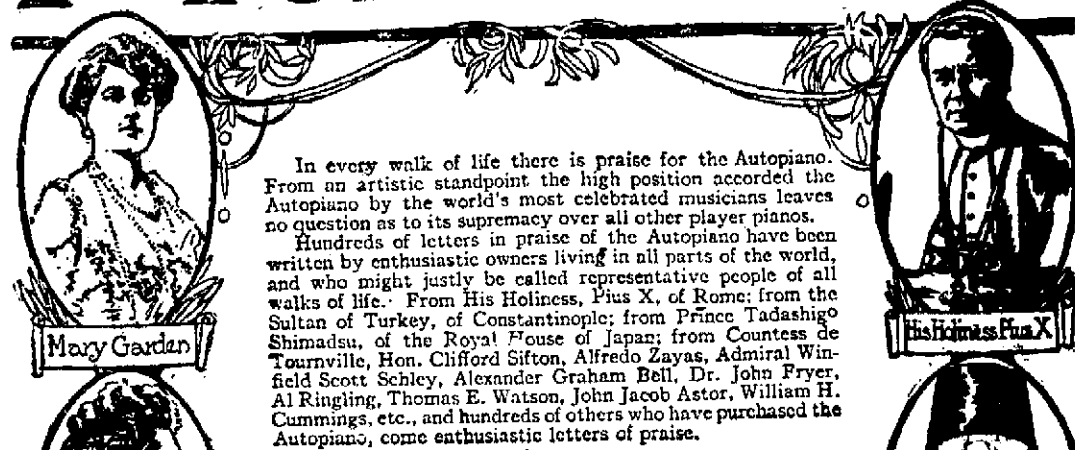

Meanwhile the school teacher, having literally pitched her tent on the claim and slept on the couch of her own making, a pile of brush, opened the first school in Oklahoma City. In the back room of a warehouse. Eventually, while both were still poor, she met and married Fred Sutton, one of the school trustees. He is the president of one bank, director in another and director in several industrial concerns, chiefly a huge packing house.—New York Sun.

PRAISE

In every walk of life there is praise for the Autopiano. From an artistic standpoint the high position accorded the Autopiano by the world's most celebrated musicians leaves no question as to its supremacy over all other player pianos. Hundreds of letters in praise of the Autopiano have been written by enthusiastic owners living in all parts of the world, and who might justly be called representative people of all walks of life. From His Holiness, Pius X, of Rome; from the Sultan of Turkey, of Constantinople; from Prince Tadashigo Shimadzu, of the Royal House of Japan; from Countess de Tournville, Hon. Clifford Sifton, Alfredo Zayas, Admiral Winfield Scott Schley, Alexander Graham Bell, Dr. John Fryer, Al Ringling, Thomas E. Watson, John Jacob Astor, William H. Cummings, etc., and hundreds of others who have purchased the Autopiano, come enthusiastic letters of praise.

The Autopiano

As a musical educator, has no equal. It environs the home with an atmosphere of refinement; it brings into your music room, at a nominal cost, the fruits of the masterful efforts of the world's best composers—a musical education and privilege for which thousands of people have spent enormous sums of money.

An Autopiano, placing at one's immediate command a choice of everything in music, will be found more entertaining and enjoyable than a library of good books. The opportunity to hear this wonderful instrument, is afforded any music lover by

PHILADELPHIA HAS A SCANDAL

Civic Housecleaning Seems to Be Musing Up the Mayor a Bit.

LOOKING UP REYBURN

Philadelphia, Sept. 8.—An investigation which may produce sensations in the present local political campaign began today when a commission created by the Pennsylvania state senate sat at city hall and heard charges against the conduct of the administration of Mayor John E. Reyburn.

The investigation was instituted by Logan M. Bullitt, chairman of the tax payers' committee of Philadelphia, who petitioned the commission to inquire into charges made by him and his associates that "There has been gross dishonesty in the conduct of the administration of Mayor Reyburn, especially in the conduct of the departments of public safety and public works."

The investigation committee is in the midst of one of the fiercest political campaigns ever waged in Philadelphia. The local republican organization is split for the first time in sixteen years. This condition came about when Wm. S. Vare, who shares the leadership in the city with State Senator James P. McNichol, announced himself as a candidate for mayor. Senator McNichol announced his opposition to Vare's candidacy and he is supported in this opposition by United States Senator Penrose, the state leader. Mayor Reyburn and his political lieutenants are supporting Vare. Senators Penrose and McNichol are behind George A. Earle for the nomination and a third candidate is Dimmer Gesser. Senator McNichol is a member of the investigating committee but will not sit with it.

There is also a contest among the reform element of the city, both D. Clarence Gibbons and Rudolph Blankenburg are striving for the key-stone party nomination.

The reformers believe that owing to the split in the regular republican ranks, the chances of success are bright.

NEW BOOKS BY THE CARLOAD.

Publishers Will Put Over One Thousand on the Market This Fall.

(Chicago Tribune.)

New York publishers will place over a thousand new books on the market this autumn, six hundred of which will be fiction, two hundred memoirs, histories and works on science, and nearly 250 stories and books of instruction for the young people. That this is straining the reading capacity of that portion of the public which is interested in books seems more than probable, and the courage of the publishers is something to arouse comment.

That the majority of these books will no more than pay for themselves is a foregone conclusion. That only a small fraction will really achieve success is something which even the sanguine publisher must admit. Yet these men who print and circulate the books prefer activity to torpor and take their chances with a full appreciation of the risks they run.

The news that such a large number of books are to be launched does not, curiously enough, give a thrill of satisfaction to anyone. The librarian is dismayed at this piece of intelligence. It means that his already overcrowded shelves will be yet more heavily laden; that he will have to examine more volumes than any ordinary man ought to be called upon to handle in a lifetime, and that he will add inevitably to the "dead wood" which already cumber his book rooms. The general reader is not pleased, for the chances are that he has an innocent ambition to "keep up with the times." If the times are represented by these books, then the task is inconceivably too much for him. His feeling is liable to be one of keen reaction and to prompt him to take his Epictetus or his Rabelais and retire into a cave.

However, he may feel differently about this when he sees the autumn product piled upon the shelves. He will say to himself with reason that in an age of tremendous activity, when manufacturing, commerce, agricultural industry, traffic and science are developing at a hitherto unknown rate it is not supposable that writers will remain inert. They share the momentum of the time. It is an age of ingenuity and invention and these tendencies evince themselves in literature as well as elsewhere.

"I have a world of confidence in Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for I have used it with perfect success," writes Mrs. M. L. Basford, Poolsville, Md. For sale by all dealers.

JENNIE LIND WAS LORELEI.

The Jenny Lind rock in the Ohio river, is near the mouth of Lee Creek. The rock is eight by sixteen feet and in 1881 four government men cut the water mark and the figures 1881.

The Jenny Lind rock got its name from the great singer. It is said she was traveling down the river many years ago and the boat on which she was a passenger struck on a sand bar near this rock. The intrepid and daring song bird, bantered the boat's crew to row her to the rock. They did so and she, while standing by the members of the crew, sang a song. Since that day the rock has been known as the Jenny Lind rock—fron-ton, (O) Register.

W. L. HARKNESS' MILLION DOLLAR YACHT SINKS IN LAKE SUPERIOR

MR. WILLIAM L. HARKNESS' STEAM YACHT GUNILDA

Rolling off the reef where she stranded on the north shore of Lake Superior, the beautiful steam yacht Gunilda, owned by W. L. Harkness, of New York and Cleveland, sank in 300 feet of water. The big yacht went down before the wrecking crews summoned to her aid by the owner could prevent it. Mr. Harkness, Mrs. Harkness, their two children and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harding, of New York, who were on board the yacht, were taken from her by a passing steamer. The Gunilda is valued at $1,000,000. She is insured for $100,000.

THE MARKETS

GRAIN AND PROVISIONS.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 8.—Basis cables today made the wheat market here weak.

Liverpool sent word of a probable increase in Russian shipments and predicted that forwardings from India would be larger than had been looked for.

Supplies from Argentina proved also quite liberal. Besides, there was a disposition to hold off buying though improved, was not so great as many traders had expected, whereas offerings were free.

The opening was 1/2c to 3/4c lower, December started at 95 1/2c to 95 3/4c, a drop of 1/4c to 1/2c, rallied to 95 1/2c, and declined to 95 1/4c.

Denials that the French import duty had been abolished caused a heavy ton in corn. Trade was decidedly slow. December opened a shade lower to a like amount up, at 63 1/2c to 64c, and dropped to 63 1/4c.

Oats sagged with other grain. There was a short lived rally, however, on account of a few longs trying to restate lines. December started 1/4c off at 49c, touched 48 1/2c and then declined to 48 1/4c.

A rather light run of hogs kept provisions steady, notwithstanding that sales by pit traders seemed somewhat lively. First transactors were 5c lower to 1/2c.

With January $15.25 for pork, $3.15 for lard, and $5.17 1/2 for ribs.

CITY BREVITIES.

W. H. Krane, of Cambridge City, was in Fort Wayne on a business trip Thursday.

Henry E. Branning, trustee of Wayne township, is attending the state fair at Indianapolis.

Ross Nelson, city editor of the Bluffton Banner, was in Fort Wayne on business Thursday.

Walter Hader, a prominent business man of Detroit, is visiting his uncle, Squire Louis Hader, of this city.

Ollie Edwards, 225 Melita street, is ill with diphtheria and the home has been placed under quarantine.

The work of patching the asphalt pavement on Maumenee was commenced by the Barber Asphalt company today. It is estimated by the engineer that six hundred yards of material will be required for the work.

Sheriff Reichelderfer, who has been spending several weeks with relatives at Lafayette, was in the city for a short time Thursday and returned to Mayville. His health is steadily improving and he will remain in Mayville for several weeks longer.

The members of the local chapter of the Military Order of the Serpent will hold a final meeting Sunday afternoon in the Elks hall, to make arrangements for the special initiation to be held Friday, September 29, when a class of thirty candidates will be received into the order. The local team will conduct the degree work.

Of the thirty injured in the wreck of the Pennsylvania Flyer and taken to the hospitals of the city, only three remain in the institutions, one in each hospital. Patrick Malone, first engineer of the flyer, is at the Lutheran hospital. R. B. Russell, of Toronto, member of the Curtiss aviation squad, is at St. Joseph's hospital, and J. M. Brown, colored, porter of the buffet smoking car, is at Hope hospital.

BAGGED A BIG EAGLE.

Capt. H. F. Jorgenson, of the gasoline supply boat Wait-a-While, anchored in Gravesend bay. He was awakened by an unusual noise. With his revolver and electric torch he began a search for river pirates. He finally located the noise on the starboard side and proceeded along the port rail. Flashing his light along the starboard side he found something lying there. He fired his revolver into the air and several of the crews of neighboring boats joined Jorgenson on board the Wait-a-While. Captain Jorgenson seized a soft hat lying nearby and grabbed the object by the head. It was a bird of some kind which they decided was a rooster. Throwing the bird into an empty barrel the sailors went back to their own boats.

In the morning Captain Jorgenson looked into the barrel and found that he had bagged a wounded eagle which had been shot in the left wing and had fallen on board exhausted. The eagle measured six feet from tip to tip.

BEAUTY OF THE ACROPOLIS.

Modern Art Like Child's Play Along side Greece's Simple Splendor.

(John Addington Symonds.)

In spite of time and violence the Acropolis survives, a miracle of beauty; like an everlasting flower, though all that lapse of years it has spread its coronal of marbles to the air, unheeded. And now, more than ever, its temples seem to be incorporated with the rock they crown. The slabs of column and casement have grown together by long pressure or molecular adhesion into a coherent whole. Nor have weeds or creepers invaded the glittering fragments that strew the sacred hill. The sun's kiss alone has caused a change from white to amber hue or russet. Meanwhile, the exquisite adaptation of Greek buildings to Greek landscape has been enhanced rather than impaired by that "unimaginable touch of time" which has broken the regularity of outline, softened the chisel work of the sculptor and confounded the balustrade's fretwork in one tint of glowing gold. The Parthenon, the Erechtheum and the Propylaea have become one with the hill on which they cluster, as useful to the scenery as the mountains as sympathetic as the rest of nature in the successions of morning and evening, which awaken them to passionate life by the magic touch of color.

Musing thus upon the staircase of the Propylaea, we may say with truth that all modern art is but child's play to that of the Greeks. Very soul subduing is the gloom of a cathedral like the Milanese duomo, when the incense rises in blue clouds athwart the beams of sunlight falling from the dome, and the crying of choirs upborne on the wings of organ music fills the whole vast space with mystery of melody. Yet such ceremonial pomp as this are but as dreams and shapes of visions, when compared with the clearly defined splendors of a Greek procession through marble peristyles in open air beneath the sun and sky.

The sun himself—not thwarted by artificial gloom or tricked with alien colors of stained glass—was made to minister in all his strength to a pomp, the pride of which was a display of form in manifold magnificence. The ritual of the Greeks was the ritual of a race at one with nature, glorifying in its affiliation to the mighty mother of all life, and striving to add by human art the coping stone and final touch to her achievement.

The eight sets of ball bearings make THE FREE so easy running that you can sew for hours without the least exhaustion, and the Rotocillo movement makes it faster than the fastest rotary and simpler than the simplest long shuttle machine. When you
